HUERTA RESIGNS AND WITH WAR MINISTER FLEES CITY; CARBAJAL MADE SUCCESSOR

Action Is Greeted With "Viva Huerta," by Throngs in Capital; Dictator Blames United States for His Troubles; Predicts Stronger Forces in Future That Will End "Outrages on Mexico"

MEXICO CITY, July 15.—General Huerta and General Blanquet left the capital tonight. They boarded a train on the Mexican railway a few miles beyond the city. It is thought they are going to Puerto Mexico.

MEXICO CITY, July 15.—Gen. Victoriano Huerta resigned from the provisional presidency of the Mexican republic this evening, and his resignation was accepted by the senate and chamber of deputies by a vote of 121 to 17.

Francisco Carbajal was then appointed president and took the oath of office at the joint session of deputies and senators.

Huerta's resignation was submitted through the department of foreign relations. It was read in the house and was greeted with cries of "Viva Huerta!" It was then referred to the joint committee of gobernacion. After brief consideration, the committees reported, accepting the resignation in the following terms:

"Article 1—We accept the resignation presented by Gen. Victoriano Huerta as president of the Mexican United States.

"Article 2. We call Licentiate Francisco Carbajal, minister of foreign relations, to assume the presidency."

A ballot was taken and the joint session approved the report.

President Carbajal proceeded to the national palace under an escort of presidential guards, and all along the way was greeted with tumultuous cheering.

The text of General Huerta's resignation follows:

"Deputies and Senators: Public necessity, admitted by the chamber of deputies, by the senate and the supreme court, called me to the supreme magistracy of the republic. Later, when in this same hall I had the honor of addressing you in compliance with the constitutional precept, I promised all of my to bring about peace.

"Seventeen months have passed and in that brief period of time I have created an army with which to carry out that solemn promise. You all know the immense difficulties which my government has encountered owing to the scarcity of funds, as well as to the manifest and decided protection which great power of this continent has afforded to the rebels so much so that when the revolution had been broken and seeing that its chief leaders were discontinued to be divided, the power in question sought a pretext to intervene directly into the conflict, and the result of this was the outrage committed at Vera Cruz by the American fleet.

Unjust Power Assailed.

"Success was had, as you know, in settling honorably through our delegates at Niagara Falls the petty Tampico incident, but the revolution continued with the support of whom we know.

"Yet, after the highly patriotic work achieved by our delegates at Niagara Falls, there are still some who say that I come what may, seek my personal interest and not that of the republic. And as I need to refute this calumniation with facts I tender my formal resignation of the presidency of the republic.

"The national congress must know that the republic, through its government, has labored in entire good faith and with the fullest energy, having succeeded in doing away with the party which in the United States calls itself Democratic, and having shown that the right should be defended.

"To be more explicit, I will say that the action of the government of the republic during its short life has dealt hard blows to an unjust power. Later stronger workers will come, using elements that undoubtedly will end that power, which has done so much evil and committed so many outrages on this continent.

"In conclusion I will say that I abandon the presidency of the republic carrying with me the highest sum of human wealth, for I declare that I have vindicated at the bar of universal conscience, the honor of a puritan whom, as a gentleman, challenge to wrest from me that possession.

"May God bless you and me."

Loudly Applaud Huerta.

The galleries of the chamber of deputies were packed before the beginning of the session this afternoon. Intense excitement characterized the gathering, and at the close of the reading of Huerta's resignation the deputies and spectators broke into loud and continued applause.

After the acceptance of Huerta's resignation a commission was appointed by the president of the chamber to escort Senor Carbajal to the floor of the house. Very soon Senor Carbajal appeared in front of the speaker's platform through files of soldiers. He entered and as he was all to the platform the deputies stood. Speaker Manuel Mercado then administered the oath.

The new executive again passed through double files of troops as he proceeded to the national palace. The military band played the national hymn while the troops presented arms and rendered presidential honors.

Two deputies spoke vigorously against the acceptance of Huerta's resignation, one of them calling it

Review of Huerta's Rule as Dictator

Victoriano Huerta took the oath as provisional president of Mexico, February 19, 1913, the day after Francisco I. Madero had been arrested at the national palace. Three days later Madero and Jose Maria Pino Suarez, vice president, were shot to death on a midnight ride under guard from the palace to the penitentiary. The manner of their death has never been satisfactorily explained.

One of Huerta's first acts as provisional president was to telegraph William H. Taft, then president of the United States, the following message:

"I have the honor to inform you that I have overthrown this government. The forces are with me and from now on peace and prosperity will reign."

The republic was at once plunged into civil war again, notwithstanding the issuance by Huerta of a proclamation of general amnesty. The Sonora state congress officially repudiated the provisional government before Huerta had settled himself comfortably in the presidential chair.

Zapata Revolts Again.

Zapata, revolutionary leader to the south of the capital, after negotiating a few days with the new regime, went back to his guerilla campaign. Salazar, one of the highest generals in the army, denounced Huerta. Carranza, Constitutionalist leader in Chihuahua, assailed him in a bitter statement made public at San Antonio. Francisco Villa announced himself an adherent to Carranza and joined the ranks of the northern army. Pascual Orozco of the clan of the northern revolutionaries, was the lone notable figure among the disaffected who declared for the new government.

President Taft, nearing the end of his term, left to his successor the problem of adjusting diplomatic relations with Mexico. To Woodrow Wilson, Huerta sent felicitations on the day of the American president's inauguration.

Hampered at the outset of his administration by the refusal of the United States to recognize him, Huerta soon faced growing difficulties in raising funds to run his government. His uneasy hold upon affairs was weakened by minor Constitutionalist victories in the north and by recurring rumors of a break with Felix Diaz, Huerta's ally in the overthrow of Madero.

Promises to Call Elections.

On May 1 Huerta announced that he would urge congress to call elections in October to choose his successor. The congress selected October 26 as the date of the election, and a decree to that effect was issued by Huerta on June 3.

Felix Diaz, who had announced himself as a candidate for the presidency, was sent to Japan on July 17.

Henry Lane Wilson, the American ambassador, was recalled to Washington, and Nelson O'Shaughnessy, chargé d'affaires, was left in charge of American interests in Mexico.

Early in August it became known that President Wilson intended to send John Lind, former governor of Minnesota, to Mexico as his personal representative in an endeavor to arrange a truce for the republic's peace. Huerta announced that he would not tolerate foreign interference.

Nevertheless, Mr. Lind delivered his note from President Wilson. Huerta rejected all proposals made by the American government, chief of which were the suggestions that he resign, and that he should not be a candidate on election day. Relations between Mexico and the United States became strained. President Wilson practically

WASHINGTON SEES QUICK SOLUTION OF DIFFICULTIES

OFFICIALS ELATED OVER TURN IN EVENTS

U. S. Forces Will Remain at Vera Cruz for Final Settlement

WASHINGTON, July 15.—News of General Huerta's resignation as provisional president of Mexico was hailed by official Washington tonight as the practical step toward a quick solution of the Mexican problem.

Constitutionalists, diplomats and officials of the United States government did not conceal their satisfaction over the fact that General Huerta at last had voluntarily eliminated himself from the situation, and pointed the way to an era of peace in his country.

Although the Constitutionalists have declared they would not recognize Francisco Carbajal as provisional president any more than they did his predecessor, and the United States government likewise will refuse to recognize him, the understanding here is that the new executive will hold office for but a short term—only until satisfactory arrangements can be made for the entry of General Carranza, the Constitutionalist chief.

Pro-diplomats in close touch with the situation it was learned that Mr. Carbajal desired only that a general amnesty be declared, conserving the lives and property of those who supported Huerta. After this is obtained, the peaceful entry into the Mexican capital of Constitutionalist troops will be negotiated.

Hope for Confidences.

General Huerta's retirement came just as the Constitutionalists were preparing for their formal answer to the South American mediators rejecting the invitation for informal conferences with representatives of Huerta for the discussion of internal Mexican questions.

While the Constitutionalists are averse to holding conferences which might recognize the legality of Carbajal's position as provisional president, hopes are raised today among South American diplomats that nevertheless negotiations might be begun between representatives of Carranza and

COLORADO PRODUCED DURING 1913 METALS WITH TOTAL GROSS VALUE OF $35,449,298

Output Shows Decrease of 5 Per Cent: Cripple Creek Produced 60 Per Cent of Gold

WASHINGTON, July 15.—The output of Colorado mines during 1913, according to Charles W. Henderson, of the United States geological survey, was $18,146,916 in gold, 9,325,235 ounces of silver, 87,620,364 pounds of lead, 7,298,269 pounds of copper, and 116,346,429 pounds of zinc (in terms of spelter and zinc in zinc oxide), with a total gross value of recovered metals of $35,449,298, as compared with $37,320,966 in 1912, a decrease in value for 1913 of $1,871,668, or 5 per cent. There was a decrease of $441,646 in gold, an increase of 1,113,135 ounces of silver, an increase of 12,378,092 pounds of lead, an increase of 190,966 pounds of copper, and a decrease of 12,876,383 pounds of zinc. The heaviest decrease in value was $2,439,974 for zinc, but there were increases of $888,021 for silver and $460,394 for lead.

The tonnage treated by the Globe, Leadville, Pueblo, Durango and Salida smelters from British Columbia, Canada, Colorado, Idaho, South Dakota, Utah, and other states, including a considerable tonnage of zinc residues from Kansas and Oklahoma zinc smelters, showed a small increase for the year. An increased tonnage from Colorado was shipped to the Garfield, Midvale, and Murray plants in Utah. Cyanide precipitates and ore were shipped from Colorado to Omaha. The United States Zinc company's magnetic plant and zinc smelter at Pueblo was operated steadily on zinc-lead ores from various counties in Colorado, and also from Arizona, Idaho, Montana, Nevada and Utah. The Western Chemical company's sulphuric acid, magnetic separation, and wet concentration plant at Denver was operated steadily, as was the Empire Zinc company's magnetic separation plant at Canon City, both treating chiefly Leadville lead-zinc ores. The Sutton, Steele and Steele dry concentration and static electric separation plant was operated throughout the year on many test lots and later on custom ore purchased from various districts in the state.

Cripple Creek Production.

Cripple Creek produced 60 per cent of the total gold yield of the state, with a yield of $10,905,008, as compared with $11,008,362 in 1912. The output for 11 months from Cripple Creek seemed to indicate a production for 12 months of $11,184,000, but the severe storm of December 4 so crippled transportation facilities that the December yield fell off heavily. There was an increased yield of gold bullion from custom cyanidation plants at Colorado Springs and from the cyanidation mills in the district, the decreased yield being due to a decreased tonnage of smelting ore. The Roosevelt tunnel continued to lower the water level gradually. In the Vindicator and Golden Cycle mines electric pumps were installed. Lower levels were opened in various properties.

The Golden Cycle and Portland cyanidation mills at Colorado Springs were operated steadily. The Portland, Stratton's Independence, Ajax and several other cyanidation plants in the district were operated continuously. The [illegible]

PROGRESSIVES ENTHUSIASTIC IN NEW YORK

OUTLOOK ENCOURAGING TO PARTY LEADERS

Dodge, Back From Conference, Says Roosevelt May Come to Colorado

Colonel Roosevelt will come to Colorado this fall to aid the Progressives in their campaign, if he leaves the east at all, according to word brought back by Clarence P. Dodge, chairman of the Progressive party in Colorado, who returned yesterday from a trip to New York and other points where he conferred with the colonel and other leaders of the party.

"Colonel Roosevelt's voice is still bothering him some," Mr Dodge said yesterday, "but he told me that he would try to get out to Colorado this fall. Much depends upon his candidacy for governor of New York, however.

"The Progressive outlook all through the east and middle west has brightened up wonderfully," Mr. Dodge said. "The leaders are full of hope, and the colonel himself has injected a great deal of enthusiasm into all phases of the coming campaigns, both state and national."

Undecided About Candidacy.

Referring to Roosevelt's candidacy for governor of New York, Mr. Dodge said that the colonel is still undecided. "He is against the plan, but so much pressure from leaders of not only the Progressive but other parties is being brought to bear upon him that he may be prevailed upon at the last hour to accept the nomination. When I was there Democrats and Taft Republicans

CHAUFFEUR ADMITS CAR STRUCK WOMAN

Police Learning Story Bit by Bit From Man Held on Suspicion

Bit by bit Charles N. Brinson is telling the police a story which they believe will in the end amount to a confession that he drove the automobile which killed Mrs. Daisy Antrim on East Huerfano street shortly before 9 o'clock Tuesday evening, and that he left her body on the street car switch on East Costilla street, near its intersection with El Paso street, a mile from the scene of the accident.

Brinson was arrested two hours after the accident on suspicion that he was the driver of the car which killed Mrs. Antrim. Since that time the authorities have questioned him repeatedly at the city jail, where he is kept in solitary confinement. They have also worked up a chain of circumstantial evidence, which they say already is sufficient to connect him definitely with the accident. They have repeatedly confronted him with evidence and little by little he has made new admissions. Added together these are filling out into the story which the police already had partly conjectured as to the manner in which the accident happened.

Tells Conflicting Stories.

At first, Brinson admitted only that he had driven along Huerfano street about 9 o'clock Tuesday evening, and denied all knowledge of the accident, denied knowledge of the blood which

BOTH SIDES STILL CLAIM JONES FIGHT

Opponents Say 10 Democratic Senators Will Oppose President's Choice

MAJORITY REPORT SLANDERS

Jones' Testimony at Inquiry Into His Relations With I. H. C. Published

WASHINGTON, July 15.—After another day's fight over the nomination of Thomas D. Jones of Chicago as a member of the federal reserve board, opponents of confirmation tonight were claiming that at least eight, and possibly 10, Democratic senators, would vote against the president's choice.

On the other hand, champions of Mr. Jones still were hopeful and were exerting every effort to line up the votes necessary to override on the floor of the senate tomorrow the banking committee majority's adverse report.

Both sides professed to see added strength for their positions in the publication of Mr. Jones' testimony before the committee at its recent inquiry into his relations with the International Harvester company and the New Jersey Zinc company. The testimony was made public by unanimous vote late today, after Senator Hitchcock, acting chairman of the committee, had submitted the majority adverse report in executive session. Mr. Jones had telegraphed that he welcomed publication of his statement.

In the course of his examination, the record showed, while defending the Harvester company and the actions of its board of directors since he became a member in 1909, Mr. Jones said he was thoroughly in accord with what he believed to be President Wilson's policy in destroying monopoly.

Publication of the majority findings was withheld by the senate pending submission of a minority report favoring Mr. Jones' confirmation, which probably will be filed tomorrow by Senators Hollis, Shafroth, Pomerene and Lee of Maryland. The majority report was signed by Senators Hitchcock and Reed, Democrats; Nelson, Bristow, Crawford, McLean and Weeks, Republicans.

Report Is Slanderous.

Bitterness which has characterized the fight reached a climax earlier in the day at a secret meeting of the committee.

The Democratic minority, it is said, charged that the majority were prejudicial in their findings; that they excluded from the report certain portions of Mr. Jones' testimony which put him in a favorable light, using, in reaching their conclusions, portions of testimony which appeared unfair when segregated from the rest, and in fact that the report was of a slanderous nature. Majority senators are said to have replied that attention could be called in the minority report to matters that the majority might have failed to mention.

In the record testimony taken by the committee with regard to Mr. Jones' election as a director of the Harvester company, which is now under indictment by the government as a monopoly in restraint of trade, the following appears:

"Senator Hitchcock—Would you like to state to the committee your reasons for your going into the directorate of this company without having any financial interest in it?

"Mr. Jones—Certainly. I have been

STOCK SHIPPERS SEEK RULING TO RECOVER FULL CASH VALUE FOR LOSSES IN TRANSIT

Eight Associations Begin Case Here Before Special Examiner; 121 Roads Defendants

Hearing of testimony in a suit brought before the interstate commerce commission, in which the railroad or corporation commissions of four states and eight livestock associations or similar bodies, are now involved as plaintiffs, and in which nearly all of the important railroads west of the Mississippi river are made defendants, was began here yesterday morning before A. G. Gutheim, special examiner for the commission. The suit relates to the limits which the railroads have fixed on values of livestock in the contracts on file with their tariffs with the interstate commerce commission. Nearly 20 men are here to represent the plaintiffs and attorneys are present for the railroads involved.

J. H. Henderson, commerce counsel of Iowa, has charge of the case and of the conferences for the plaintiffs. The opening statement for them was made yesterday by S. H. Cowan of Fort Worth, Tex., attorney for the American National Livestock association. C. C. Wright, attorney for the Chicago and Northwestern railroad, led the cross-examination for the defendants yesterday, and Wallace T. Hughes, attorney for the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific railroad, also is taking a prominent part in the case.

One Hundred and Twenty-One Roads.

One hundred and twenty-one railroads between Chicago and the Pacific coast make up the defendants. The original complainants in the case were the Iowa board of railroad commissioners, the Corn Belt Meat Producers association of Iowa, the National Livestock Exchange of Chicago and the Cattle Raisers Association of Texas. The South Dakota railroad commission intervened in the case some time ago, and the others who are now plaintiffs were allowed to intervene yesterday morning. Those who are in Colorado Springs to represent the various plaintiffs are:

"weak submission to the United States."

Two other deputies spoke in favor of acceptance, declaring that it was the only way to save the country and end the fratricidal strife.

General Aurelanio Blanquet, Huerta's minister of war, several other generals and the ministers of communications, public instruction and interior in the Huerta cabinet, Arturo Alvaradejo, Garcia Naranjok and Ignacio Alcocer, respectively, as well as other high officials of the former administration left the capital this afternoon.

Crowds Follow Ex-President.

A special committee composed of Jesus Ureta, Enrique Berdes, Manuel and Jose Ines Novelo, former members of the chamber of deputies, left tonight to arrange with the Constitutionalist leaders for a peaceful entry into the capital.

It was reported that General Huerta was preparing to leave for Europe. The members of his family passed through Cordoba this afternoon on the way to Puerto Mexico.

The streets of the capital were crowded until a late hour tonight, but no disturbance has been reported. The governor of the federal district issued orders to the police to check every demonstration rigorously. The streets are patrolled by mounted police who have orders to use drastic measures if necessary.

Rumors that bands of Zapata followers have reached Xochimilco, 10 miles south of the capital, have proved to be unfounded.

Shortly after 8 o'clock tonight General Huerta, accompanied by a few friends, entered the French cafe which he has been in the habit of visiting several times daily for the past year or more and took his usual place near the entrance.

An immense crowd followed the ex-president to the cafe, shouting "vivas" for him. Many shook him by the hand while others embraced and several kissed him on the check.

Panic Narrowly Averted.

The stern old soldier was overcome and tears filled his eyes. He raised his glass and said:

"This will be my last toast in my favorite resort and I drink to the new president of Mexico."

As President Carbajal emerged from the chamber of deputies an immense crowd blocked the streets, making it difficult for the presidential carriage to pass. The troops were obliged to clear the way. The dense crowds issuing from the chamber were momentarily halted, hundreds turning back into the building.

A panic was narrowly averted, the trouble being caused by some man in the street raising a cry against the deputies who had refused to vote for the acceptance of Huerta's resignation. The manifestants showed an ugly disposition and attempted to attack the deputies, but the troops leveled their guns and dispersed them.

In view of possible disturbances as a result of the change in government, placards are being posted on the walls along the main streets signed by Eduardo Iturbide, governor of the federal district, calling upon the people not to hold demonstrations, to preserve the peace and to act as becomes a cultured nation. The proclamation says that the governor will suppress disorders at any cost.

Review of Huerta's Rule as Dictator

his policy in an address before Congress, to which was attached the correspondence between Mr. Lind and the Huerta administration.

Imprisoned Deputies.

Huerta was attacked in the senate by Senator Dominguez, who had the hardihood to speak what was in the minds of himself and some of his colleagues. Dominguez disappeared. The chamber of deputies adopted a resolution calling for an investigation. To this Huerta's reply was dramatic and swift. He marched a column of troops to the deputies' chamber, seized 110 of them and threw them into prison. Next, he dissolved congress and took to himself the legislative authority calling for the election of new members on October 26. Through Mr. O'Shaughnessy the United States made representations against violence to the imprisoned deputies. In the election campaign certain influences close to the dictator worked for his return to the presidency with General Blanquet as his running mate, and lent color to the persistent report that Huerta really desired to be elected and that his pretenses to the contrary were a sham.

When it became certain that the elections had resulted in no constitutional choice on account of the failure of voters to go to the polls, the American government peremptorily called on him to resign. In a statement to the diplomatic corps on November 9, he announced that he would declare the result of the election null and order another election.

John Lind Leaves.

On November 12, Huerta refused to accede to the American demand for his resignation, and John Lind left Mexico City for Vera Cruz. Meantime the United States dispatched warships to the Mexican coast and Americans continued to leave Mexico.

Definite proposals were made by the United States to Carranza and his adherents. Several of the European powers, notably Great Britain, Germany and France, gave strong support to the policy of the United States. The Constitutionalists grew stronger and continued their advance to the south. They captured Victoria, Chihuahua, Juarez and Culiacan.

The situation became so critical that Great Britain, Germany, France, Spain and Japan ordered warships to Mexican waters.

Fighting continued at Tampico and many other centers and Torreon was taken by the Constitutionalists.

An embargo placed on the exportation of arms from the United States to Mexico was raised early in February of the present year.

A large number of American troops were concentrated on the border and the American fleet in Mexican waters was strengthened.

Vera Cruz Taken.

The Constitutionalists advanced on Torreon and Monterey and the former place was captured early in April.

Then came the departure of John Lind from Vera Cruz and the arrest of a party of American bluejackets at Tampico, for which an apology and salute were demanded by the United States and refused by Huerta.

On April 12, bluejackets and marines were landed at Vera Cruz in consequence of the reported arrival of a large consignment of arms and ammunition for Huerta. A number of Americans were killed in the street fighting. The Mexicans retired and destroyed a portion of the railroad.

Shortly after a mediation proposal from Argentina, Brazil and Chile was accepted and a conference ensued at Niagara Falls.

In the interval American troops relieved the bluejackets at Vera Cruz and have since remained in occupation of the port.

Tampico and Zacatecas fell into the Constitutionalists' hands and the victorious armies continued their march on Mexico City, where rumors have been in circulation for many weeks of the resignation of Huerta.

Capture of Palomas Breaks the Peace of Northern Mexico

COLUMBUS, N. M., July 15.—The annihilation today of the Constitutionalist garrison at Palomas, Chihuahua, by federal irregulars broke the peace of northern Mexico and revived reports of counter revolutions in the republic. Three hundred guerillas under Gen. Reque Gomez attacked the little border town in view of troops of the United States army patrol. As far as was learned every man of the Villa garrison was killed.

Thirty men under Captain Topete fought desperately from the adobe houses, but were overpowered within a few minutes. All were killed in the fighting, it was reported, except seven men of the garrison who kept up a fire from one of the houses which was not subdued by the federals until several hours later. It is believed that these seven survivors were captured and executed.

Gomez announced today that he would leave during the night for parts unknown and it is believed will make no attempt to defend the town from the advance of troops from Juarez or Casas Grandes. It was learned that 200 men from the Pearson garrison, almost directly to the south, had been sent by General Villa's orders to retake the border town.

Reque Gomez was second in command under General Ynez Salazar when that federal commander of former anti-Madero rebels took Palomas in November, 1912. His men are Chihuahua ranchmen who have been in arms since the Madero revolution of 1910. Recently they have been terrorizing residents of the Casas Grandes district.

RAILWAY TRAFFIC WILL BE TIED UP

Federal Army Officers, Now Operating Railways, Won't Remain at Posts

VERA CRUZ, July 15.—The Mexicans of Vera Cruz received the news of Huerta's resignation without manifestation of excitement tonight. El Dictamen, a Constitutionalist daily, issued a dodger containing the announcement of the resignation, which was given away in the streets.

The paper declared that the new president, Francisco Carabajal, would turn the government over to the Constitutionalists unconditionally and that the politicians and officials of the Huerta administration were flying in panic from the capital.

Of Huerta's withdrawal, the paper says:

"At last usurpation has fallen and the man who merits castigation should not escape."

The military officials here say they would not be surprised if railway traffic between Vera Cruz and the capital should be interrupted temporarily in the confusion which probably will follow the collapse of the Huerta cause.

They point out that many federal army officers will feel it is not safe to remain at their posts to await the coming of the Constitutionalists and the result will be demoralization of the military now operating the railways.

Refuse to Make Repairs.

Evidence is not lacking of this condition at the gap, where it is known the government had issued orders to repair the break in the line but the soldiers refused to permit reconstruction because they lacked orders from the war department. Apparently even the officers in the field have been kept in the dark as to Huerta's intention to resign. Colonel Iaunza, commanding rurales about Vera Cruz, while discussing the subject with American officers at the gap today offered to wager that Huerta would remain at his post for many months.

The American officers think it possible the next day or two may see many Mexican officers seeking safety within the American lines. They believe it is even possible that virtually the whole federal force near Vera Cruz may offer to surrender to the Americans rather than seek to join the Constitutionalist cause at this late hour.

When the news of Huerta's resignation was received, the German cruiser Dresden and the British cruiser Bristol departed hastily, presumably for Puerto Mexico.

It is reported that Rear Admiral Badger is preparing to send another ship or two there to watch proceedings.

Butler Saves Scotch Secretary of State From Horsewhipping

LONDON, July 15.—Only the intercession of his butler today saved the Rt. Hon. Thomas McKinnon Wood, secretary of state for Scotland, from a horsewhipping at the hands of two suffragettes.

Just as he was leaving his residence, a woman rushed up, horsewhip in hand, exclaiming: "You Scottish pig, if you don't stop the forcible feeding of women, we shall smash you."

The militant lashed him across the chest, but before she could deliver a second cut, the butler seized her and threw her to the ground, leaving him free to tackle the second woman, who was shouting: "Let me get at the Scotch pig."

She made a rush with her whip at the secretary for Scotland and was still struggling in the butler's grip when the police arrived and bundled both women to the police station, where they were searched. On one of them was found a decomposed egg, labeled "Refreshing fruit."

In the court the women gave their names as Janette Wallace and Bertha Watson. They were fined 20 shillings each, but refused to pay and were sent to jail for 14 days.

MRS. PERCY V. PENNYBACKER.

Mrs. Percy V. Pennybacker, re-elected president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs of the United States. She was born in Virginia in 1861, so she is now 53 years of age. Her home is in Austin, Tex. For several years she was a school teacher. She was married in 1884. Ten years later she was chosen president of the State Federation of Women's Clubs, in Texas, and became president of the General Federation in 1912. This year she was reelected without opposition.

VILLA SORRY HE COULDN'T GET HIS HANDS ON HUERTA

"But I Don't Care to Talk of the Traitor's Resignation," Rebel General Adds

JUAREZ, Mexico, July 15.—"I would much prefer that Huerta had remained in the chair or in Mexico City until we could get our hands on him," said General Villa today in Juarez when he learned of Huerta's reported resignation.

"That is the only comment I care to make on the subject," he added; "I am a soldier of my country and do not care to express my opinion of the traitor's resignation."

A military band played martial airs outside Villa's headquarters as the news of Huerta's abdication was spread out. Villa will remain on the border two or three days, it was said today at his headquarters here. An informal request had been made that Villa might visit El Paso on the American side of the international line, but while neither army nor civil officials offered any objection, the matter was dropped.

The sudden but not unexpected turn of affairs at the national capital led to speculation regarding what troops of the Constitutionalist army would be the first to enter Mexico City. The forces under Generals Aguilar and Obregon are nearest the goal of the Carranza revolution, but Villa officials tonight expressed the belief that troops of all three divisions would be represented in the triumphal entry. Villa's army cannot be moved southward for several weeks.

Police of Half Dozen Cities Following Numerous Claws in Efforts to Locate Women

ATLANTA, Ga., July 15.—Interest in the search for Mrs. Elois Nelms Dennis and Miss Beatrice Nelms, missing daughters of Mrs. John W. Nelms of Atlanta, was revived today by reports that two persons answering their description were on Petit Bois island in the Gulf of Mexico. Efforts to locate and identify the women, however, have failed.

A member of the Atlanta police department left here today for New Orleans to aid in tracing a letter received by the mother on July 8 from San Francisco, signed with Mrs. Dennis' name and indicating she had killed her sister, was preparing to kill her brother and then would kill herself.

A letter Mrs. Dennis wrote to an Atlanta real estate firm before she left here early in June for New Orleans and the west, made public today, said:

"I shall leave Atlanta in a few weeks—going to India to live, and I am anxious to sell all my holdings."

Detectives are trying to connect this with a report from San Antonio that a typewriter with Hindu characters was sent from there by express June 25, addressed to Victor Innes, former assistant district attorney in Nevada, who was Mrs. Dennis' attorney in a divorce suit at Reno, Nev., a year and a half ago.

San Francisco authorities were asked today to investigate passenger lists of vessels sailing for the orient since July 3.

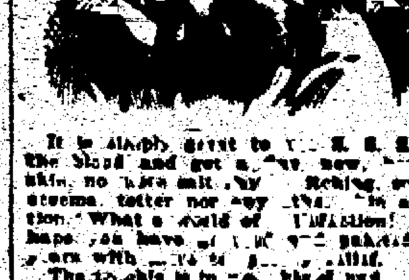

PORTLAND, Ore., July 14.—Chief of Police John Clark of Portland was asked tonight by the Atlanta, Ga., police to keep Victor Innes under surveillance. Chief Clark said he saw no reason for so doing.

Drys Lose Fight in Republican State Convention in Iowa

DES MOINES, Ia., July 15.—Prohibition forces lost their battle for the insertion of a plank favoring the resubmission of their prohibition question to a vote of the people at the Republican state convention here this afternoon. The convention did adopt a plank indorsing the present liquor laws and commending their enforcement.

The "drys" were defeated after a long battle in the resolutions committee, which finally voted unanimously against putting such a plank in the platform. There was no opposition in the convention and the committee re-port went through without a hitch. No attempt was made to revive the question on the floor of the convention.

TRUST BILLS SHOULD BE MADE ONE MEASURE

Leaders Still Puzzling Over Legislation; Fear Fate of Single Bills

WASHINGTON, July 15.—That administration leaders in the senate still are unable to agree on the general principles of trust legislation now before them was emphasized today.

The wide divergence of views was further indicated in senate committees, the judiciary committee, failing after a solid week of labor to perfect the Clayton bill, which they had expected to complete last Monday. The interstate commerce committee failed again to meet to resume consideration of the Rayburn bill to regulate issuance of railroad securities and it was stated by a member of the committee that no meeting could be held before Friday. It was asserted also that practically no progress has been made since last week.

The difficulties senators are encountering in committees, together with the open disagreements as to principles evidenced on the floor, gave some administration leaders concern over the fate of the trust bills and served to increase the growing belief that the various measures pending should be consolidated into one measure.

Discussing the interstate trade commission bill Senator Hollis declared that the interstate commerce committee was in favor of the so-called Newlands measure which would give the proposed commission power to prevent "unfair competition." He added that the judiciary committee believed an attempt could and should be made to define the unfair practices to be prohibited.

Bill Won't Solve Problem.

Senator Borah varied the arguments by asking what relief would be afforded to the small business man if the "halo of eternal wisdom should for a moment slip from the brow of the federal trade commission," or such business men as "Thomas D. Jones, nominated for the federal reserve board, be appointed to the federal trade commission."

Senator Hollis said the Sherman antitrust law was effective to strike down full grown monopolies but that the general prohibition against "unfair competition" was needed to provide a law to strike at the creation of monopolies. He explains that power would remain with the department of justice to dissovle trusts under the Sherman antitrust law, but that in addition the federal trade committee would be given the power of policing trade with a view of making "the big fellows let the little fellows live."

Senator Borah opposed the trade commission bill as a final step to solve the trust problem by seeking to regulate monopolies. He declared as soon as the supreme court entered the decree in the tobacco trust case, a decree pronounced by him as one of the severest ever entered into the world, propaganda was started to get regulation of monopolies and thus avoid the effect of the Sherman law.

WEST VIRGINIA MINERS SIGN WORKING AGREEMENT

CHARLESTON, W. Va., July 15.—The miners of the Kanawha district, who went on strike June 1, tonight affirmed the agreement made by their representatives and the operators. Most of the mines in the field are now operating.

IMPORTANCE OF SOUND TEETH

Dental Ailments Cause Large Number of Disorders of the Body.

From the London Times.

The sixth International Dental congress, which will be held in London in August, is being awaited with interest not only by dentists, but by the medical profession and all who are concerned with the problems of national health.

The past 10 years have witnessed a growing recognition by doctors and laymen of the importance of the teeth in relation to physical and even mental health and wellbeing. Some essential facts in this connection were brought out last year in the proceedings of the odontological section of the International Medical congress, and the occurrence in London this year of a conference devoted to dental questions is exceedingly opportune, especially as an attempt is now being made to foster systematic research into dental problems.

It is not disputed that a very large number of disorders of the body are in origin due to defective teeth to dental caries, decay, or to that most subtle and less recognizable complaint pyorrhea. Chronic joint affections and certain so-called rheumatic conditions are largely of toxic origin, and the mouth is, of course, a focus of infection. It is not uncommon today for medical practitioners who are treating a case of "rheumatism" to send the patient to the dentist, and in many cases dental treatment provides a cure. An eminent dental surgeon recently quoted the following cases which came under his attention within one month:

A man who had suffered from insomnia for 17 years had three teeth removed. Within a week he was able to enjoy a normal, undisturbed sleep.

A sufferer from eye trouble had some teeth removed not with the idea of curing his ocular affection, and found to his surprise that with the removal of his teeth his eye trouble disappeared.

A woman subject to mental disorder was sent by a distinguished alienist to a dental surgeon in order that, as a preliminary to treatment, the toxic influence of bad teeth should be removed.

Side by side with this professional recognition of the importance of sound teeth there is a ... marked improvement in the attitude of the public. In ... degree this may be attributed to the institution of dental inspection in elementary schools. Only the other day a woman patient of a widely ... tion of having her children's teeth periodically inspected, "for," she said, "if the elementary children have it, why shouldn't mine?"

With professional and public opinion in this state a very real improvement in the national health could be brought about if systematic research into the problems of dentistry could be organized. At present, while the subject of decay in teeth is pretty fully understood, pyorrhea—a condition of pus within the gum—still needs considerable investigation. Pyorrhea does not in its earlier stages manifest its presence by so clear a sign as toothache, and the visible part of the tooth may be apparently sound. But meanwhile the poison of the disease may be exercising a deleterious effect on the whole body.

Hitherto there has been very little organized research into the problems of dentistry in England; but a beginning has recently been made at the Royal Dental hospital in Leicester square. A gift of £1,000 by the wife of the late John Hampton Hale, who was chairman of the managing committee, has enabled the authorities to equip a research laboratory; and efforts have been made privately to members of the staff to supplement this. With wider support we might expect from this research center results which, in view of the extent of the problem, would be of national moment.

ELKS DISAPPROVE USE OF EMBLEM IN ADVERTISING

Convention Completes Most of Its Work; Local Man Wins Prize in Auto Parade

DENVER, July 15.—The grand lodge of Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks completed a majority of its work today and adjourned for a final session tomorrow.

It decided to recognize the state reunion of Associations of Elks; refused to provide, at present, for the publication of a national Elks' journal; disapproved a proposition to make any man secretary of a subordinate lodge for 10 consecutive years a member of the grand lodge; condemned the use of the national emblem for advertising purposes and approved a resolution extending fraternal good will to Confederate and Union veterans of the Civil war.

A pageant composed of 30 floats, supplied by Colorado state lodges, furnished the spectacular diversion today of the subordinate lodge members. An illuminated automobile parade filled the streets tonight.

A cash prize for the best decorated out-of-town automobile in the illuminated parade tonight was won by Colorado Springs, T. N. Chapman driving. Other prizes were awarded local entrants.

FOUR FATALLY SHOT IN GANG FIGHT IN OMAHA

OMAHA, July 15.—Four persons were fatally shot tonight during two fights between rival gangsters, in one of which 300 men and boys engaged, and which brought riot calls to police headquarters in each instance.

The four fatally hurt are:

NELS LIND, aged 16.

FRED SCHROEDER, 35, former city councilman.

PETER SCHROEDER.

WILLIAM RAPP.

According to Rapp, he and the Schroeders were attacked by some Italian laborers who did all the shooting. No trace of the Italians could be found by the police. Stories told by neighbors differ from those of the injured men. One neighbor declared the injured men quarreled among themselves a few minutes before the shooting. No weapons were found on them nor in the vicinity.

ON THE KRUPP PAYROLL

From the London Chronicle.

Few English folk have any idea of the vast dimensions of the great industrial concern under the control of Dr. Krupp von Bohlen, who, just now, is paying us a visit. The gun works at Essen cover 1,200 acres, 235 of them under roof, where 40,000 men find employment. The Krupp collieries in Westphalia and Silesia employ 10,000 miners, the armor plate keeps busy another 15,000 pairs of hands, the Kiel shipbuilding yards employ 6,000, and the Krupp docks, steamers and foreign ore mines bring up the total of the firm's employes to close upon 80,000. The Krupp payroll totals $25,000,000 a year.

Spurgeon's Condition Extremely Critical

In an effort to save his life by removing pressure on his brain which resulted from a fracture of the skull, physicians at St. Francis hospital last night cut away a portion of the skull of D. H. Spurgeon, chief clerk of the Florence and Cripple Creek Railroad company. The operation did not relieve the pressure, however, and Spurgeon was still unconscious at a late hour last night. His condition at that time was reported as serious.

Spurgeon was injured recently in an automobile accident on the Pueblo road, a few miles south of Colorado Springs, when the tire of a car in which he was riding burst and the machine was overturned. Two men who were riding with him, also were injured, but not seriously.

CENSORSHIP COMMITTEE TURNS DOWN REQUESTS

At a meeting of the advertising censorship committee of the Chamber of Commerce yesterday consideration was given to several propositions for advertising solicitation, and in all cases except that of the program for the El Paso County fair at Calhan, unfavorable action was taken. It was decided not to issue a card to a proposal for a "convenient telephone directory," this being one of a score of such propositions which appear periodically; and the applications of several out-of-town solicitors for cards on various publications were unfavorably considered.

In the case of the annual program for the El Paso County fair, however, the committee took favorable action and issued cards to each member of the committee appointed by the Calhan people to present this proposition to the local merchants. The county fair is an established institution, toward the success of which Colorado Springs is always interested in doing its share.

BOLT STRIKES TREE AND WOMEN HAVE CLOSE CALL

Had Sought Shelter in Park From Storm When Lightning Hits Tall Cottonwood

Death by electrocution was the fate that nearly overtook two women in North park yesterday, when a large tree in the park was struck by lightning. The current ran half way down the tree, stripping the bark and shattering the limbs, and would have struck the two women had it not been deflected by a telephone wire.

C. W. Grimes of Mobile, Mo., was standing about 30 yards away when the flash came and saw the flame dart down the tree toward the women, only to be turned aside by the telephone wire. The ground for several yards was covered with pieces of wood and broken insulators. "It seemed to me as if a fire was burning up the tree for a minute," said Grimes, "and it was surely a lucky escape." The women left the park at once and, according to Grimes, were severely jarred and shocked by the concussion. They were standing under the trees for shelter during the heavy rain, when the bolt descended.

Other attractive features have been arranged Sunday for the visiting Elks.

Big Fruit Shipments Are Now Under Way

That big shipments of fruit from the western slope are daily leaving the Grand valley for the east is confirmed by the Colorado Midland railway offices here. Arrangements to handle 150 carloads of fruit daily for the balance of July and August were announced yesterday. The farmers are shipping their crops from all sections of the country and the railroads here will be kept busy handling the great number of cars on their way to the markets in other states.

SANTA FE PREPARES FOR BIG WHEAT CROP

It is estimated that 60 per cent of the total wheat crop of Kansas, which will probably reach 15,000,000 bushels this year, will be handled by the Santa Fe, according to the local office. This company will make a specialty of storage in transit this year, and will store the crops in grain elevators for the farmers until markets can be found, in order that the cars may return to the wheat fields where they will be needed every day. The railroads will try to get the farmers to hold the grain this year instead of shipping it at once, thus avoiding a car shortage.

MAY ORGANIZE STATE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

Proposed Plan Will Be Decided at a Meeting to Be Held in Boulder Tomorrow

In connection with the meeting of the Colorado Association of Commercial Executives, which is to be held at Boulder tomorrow, there will be a meeting of the All-Colorado committee, according to a call issued yesterday by Chairman George W. Martin of Denver. The members of the All-Colorado committee have been laboring for many months to bring about a more harmonious feeling between the various parts of the state and they are interested in the discussion of the formation of a state chamber of commerce, which is to be the main subject for consideration at the Boulder meeting.

Just what action will be taken on this proposition remains to be seen. Colorado Springs delegates who will attend the conference are in favor of all movements looking to the advancement of the state's interests, but the information which has been received does not indicate the lines upon which it is proposed to organize and conduct the proposed new association.

The Colorado Springs Chamber of Commerce will be represented at this meeting by several of its officers as well as by the members of the All-Colorado committee.

on terms of close intimacy with the McCormick family since I went to Chicago more than 30 years ago, and in the early part of 1909 they said to me that there was a vacancy on the board of the Harvester company and they would like me to consent to become a director. I told them what they knew already; that I had no interest whatever in the stock of the concern and had no plans contemplating an investment, and they said they knew that, and that it was not an investor in stocks that they were looking for—it was somebody who could afford to give the time and was willing to give the time such time as would be demanded as a director of the company; and they asked me as a personal favor to consent to do so.

Received No Compensation.

"Senator Hitchcock—Not for any compensation?

"Mr. Jones—Not the slightest nor the promise of any or the expectation of any.

"Senator Pomerene—When you say, 'they' will you please state the names?

"Mr. Jones—Mr. Cyrus H. McCormick was the man who asked me, but he told me that he was speaking on behalf of his mother and brother and sister and the family. My acquaintance has been a family acquaintance from the time I went to Chicago.

"Senator Hitchcock—It was then a matter of personal feeling for the McCormick family that led you to become a director, acting on a desire to gratify them?"

Mr. Jones reviewed in detail the scope of the Harvester concern, including its European extensions, where branch plants were established, explaining the segregation of the domestic and foreign companies at the time Attorney General Wickersham began proceedings to dissolve the American combination.

Later in the examination this appeared:

"Senator Reed—You accorded with the general policies of the company while you were in it?

"Mr. Jones—After my election, yes, sir; I did.

"Senator Reed—And you did not make any effort to stop its practices or change its policies?

"Mr. Jones—I knew of no practices in the company after I became a director that I thought in any way in contravention of law.

"Senator Reed—Or good morals?"

"Mr. Jones—Or good morals.

Contracts Are Fair.

"Senator Hollis—You satisfied yourself as to whether the selling contracts are unfair?

"Mr. Jones—I have satisfied myself that I believe they are entirely fair. There is no element of exclusive dealing in them at all. The agents of the International Harvester company's machines handle the Deere machines; they handle any other machines that they see fit.

"Senator Hollis—So that you, by personal investigation, have satisfied yourself that there is nothing in the conduct of the International Harvester company with which a high-minded man cannot properly identify himself?

"Mr. Jones—I have."

Inquiry into Mr. Jones' affiliation with the New Jersey Zinc company as stockholder and director was not extended. He explained that he joined in the acquisition by the New Jersey Zinc company of the Mineral Point Zinc company in 1897 and later of other zinc companies, involving a large consolidation.

He said the New Jersey company's mine produced a grade of oxide of zinc that could be had nowhere else, and although the companies controlled 85 per cent of the oxide of zinc trade of the country, there had been no combination in restraint of trade.

Near the end of the examination the record shows the following:

"Senator Hitchcock—One of the purposes in creating the new banking and currency system is to decentralize the banking power in the United States.

"Mr. Jones—Yes, sir.

Believes in Wilson Policy.

"Senator Hitchcock—Which has been used to create monopolies. And I suppose that thought has been in the minds of some when the question arose as to your connection with the two concerns which seem to have for their purpose a creation of great combinations; and the committee was curious to know whether your views were in harmony with the opinion of the country, which is strongly opposed to anything tending to centralize or monopolize business.

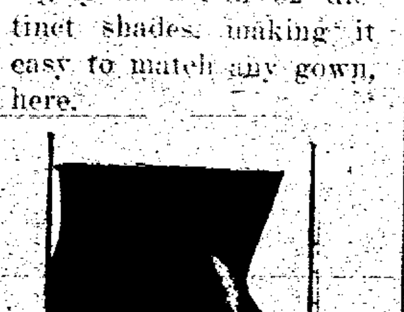

"Mr. Jones—I have not the slightest hesitation in answering any question along that line that may be asked as to what my views may be as to general policy. I am thoroughly in accord with what I believe to be President Wilson's policy in destroying monopoly."

Lassen Crater Again Belches Forth Smoke

REDDING, Cal., July 15.—Black smoke belched a mile high from the crater on Lassen peak early today and then drifted southward before the wind in a banner ten miles long.

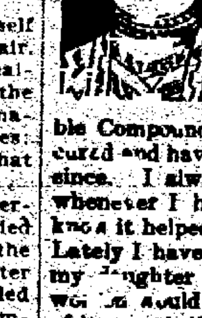

The amount of falling ashes was small compared with the great eruption of June 14, although the volume of the cloud was fully as great and the duration of the disturbance longer. The first violence of the outbreak began to dwindle after two hours, though the mountain still boiled smoke.

The spectacle of Mount Lassen in eruption has become so common that it no longer excites the country side. Today's is the eighteenth eruption since May 30.

Carbajal for the speedy transfer of power to the Constitutionalists.

It is practically certain that Emilio Rabasa, Augustin Rodriguez and Luis Elguero, who represented Huerta at the Niagara Falls mediation, will be designated by Carbajal to look after his interests in this country. That the mediators now will make another effort to bring the two factions into conference is considered very likely.

Would Aid Carranza.

General Carranza, in the opinion of the mediators, would profit greatly by entering into such conferences. By doing so he might guarantee himself immediate recognition by the United States, Argentina, Brazil and Chile. Under the terms of the protocols signed at Niagara Falls the United States promised to recognize any government set up by agreement between the two Mexican forces without waiting for an election. The agreement between the two principal elements would be taken as tantamount to an expression of will of the Mexican people. Should Carranza refuse to parley with the Carbajal government and insist on taking Mexico City by force, setting up a military government, recognition in all likelihood would be deferred until an election was held.

Renewed efforts are being made by Constitutionalists here to persuade Carranza to enter conferences with Carbajal. Carranza's objections hitherto have been that he could not agree to any compromise provisional president, but must insist on the plan of Guadalupe. Many diplomats here think that Carbajal would accept the plan of Guadalupe, which calls for the establishment of Carranza as provisional president, provided ample guarantees for life and property were given.

Huerta Safest Out of Country.

It is believed in some quarters here that Carbajal may make an effort to have Huerta given immunity from arrest if he stays in Mexico City. The Huerta delegates in New York have tried to secure guarantees for him, but even if given, friends of the dictator think he would be safest out of the country. It is not thought he will depart for several days at least, preferring to offer his services to Carbajal in the field if a final rally of federal troops is made against the Constitutionalists.

Huerta's resignation marks the culmination of more than a year's active effort on the part of the United States government to force his retirement. John Lind was sent to Mexico last summer in an effort to bring about the withdrawal of Huerta. President Wilson later went to congress and revealed the terms on which Huerta had practically been asked to retire from office. An embargo on arms was placed on both Mexican factions and the Washington government then began its policy of cutting off financial aid for the Huerta government, not only from the United States but from Europe.

Downfall Inevitable.

Huerta's resources slowly diminished under the pressure of the United States. The Constitutionalists, aided by the moral support of the American government, pushed their military campaign to within striking distance of the capital. Realizing that a military conquest of Mexico City by the Constitutionalists was inevitable, General Huerta finally has yielded to the persuasion of the hundreds of influential Mexicans who prayed that further bloodshed and disturbances at Mexico City be avoided.

With Huerta's retirement the Constitutionalists feel that their revolution has virtually triumphed. They turned against him the moment he overthrew Madero, the constitutional president of Mexico, in February, 1913, and have waged their war with unrelenting vigor ever since.

The prospect of an early solution of the Mexican problem gave both President Wilson and Secretary Bryan much joy tonight.

American forces will not be withdrawn from Vera Cruz until a stable government has been established in Mexico City and recognition has been accorded the new government. The feeling is general, however, that if Carranza gives guarantees to political offenders, as well as the people generally, recognition will be promptly extended by the United States and other nations of Central and South America as well as Europe.

Incidentally, the resignation of Huerta now places Europe on an equal footing with the United States with respect to the authorities at Mexico City. The powers of Europe had recognized Huerta, but on account of the pronounced attitude of the United States they are expected to follow the lead of the American government before extending recognition again to Carbajal or his successor.

CORNER IN GOLDFISH MARKET

From the Pittsburg Dispatch.

John Bowman manager of the new Biltmore hotel cornered the goldfish market here the other day. This condition was caused by the opening of another sky dining place. To fill the miniature lakes formed by the fountain in the new Cascade roof garden on top of the Biltmore hotel, Manager Bowman had to bid high for 18-karat goldfish and had to take a few of 14 karats. It was within 10 minutes of the scheduled opening time of the Cascade garden when the last consignment arrived and were placed in the lakes. Goldfish are usually bought in pairs. An order for 100 wipes out the stock of the largest dealers. Mr. Bowman wanted nearly 1,000, and after his agents had bought up the stock of every goldfish dealer in New York and the lakes were still shy of the desired number. A hurry call was sent to Brooklyn and a herd of fish were corralled and placed in the lakes. For several days it was impossible to buy a goldfish from any dealer in New York.

Chicago; South Dakota railroad commission, P. W. Dougherty, assistant attorney general of South Dakota, and D. L. Kelly, rate expert; Kansas City Livestock exchange, J. Walter Farrar and Mr. Moore, both of Kansas City; Arizona corporations commission, Commissioner F. A. Jones; Colorado board of railroad commissioners, Commissioners Anderson and Bradley, and attorney General Fred Farrar; South Omaha Livestock exchange, A. F. Stryker, secretary; National Livestock exchange of Chicago (of which Harry D. Platt of Chicago is president, and E. R. Irwin of St. Joseph, Mo., is secretary); J. W. Moore of Chicago, chairman of the general committee, and for the Military Tract Shippers of Livestock association, S. Musgrove, president, and J. B. C. Lutz, secretary-treasurer, both of Monmouth, Ill.

Began in March, 1913.

The events which led up to the present action began in March, 1913, when the United States supreme court handed down several decisions, of which Adams vs. Croninger and C. B. & Q. vs. Miller were the earliest, with several others following them, to the effect that in cases of contracts between railroads and shippers limiting or declaring a valuation on which a rate would be based, a shipper using that contract would be bound by its terms and could not recover in excess of the amount stated. Before that shippers of livestock through all the western territory between Chicago and the Pacific, although they signed the contract, were permitted to recover, and did in fact recover, the full value of their stock killed or injured, regardless of the value stated in the contract.

The cattle people, Iowa shippers in particular, then began work, and through the Corn Belt Meat Producers association appealed to the Iowa board of railroad commissioners to bring an action before the interstate commerce commission to change the values existing in livestock contracts on file with the tariffs of the railroads with the interstate commerce commission. These contracts provided for a value of $100 for a horse, mule or jack; $50 for a steer, $30 for a cow, $10 for a hog and $3 for a sheep. The complainants contend that the real valuations are far in excess of these—that for horses they run as high as $250, for the best steers, from $125 to $150; for cows, $75; for hogs at least $20, and for sheep, between $5 and $6.

Ask Readjustment of Valuations.

Under present circumstances also, in order to obtain protection for higher valued stock, the shipper under the contract pays from 10 to 25 per cent additional freight for each additional 100 per cent over the contract value of the animal. The complainants ask for a readjustment of the valuations in the contracts to accord more nearly with the actual values, and for a readjustment of this per cent of increase in the freight charge on account of the increase in value of the animal, so that the increase in the rate will cover only the risk assumed by the railroad in transportation of the higher valued animals.

The testimony introduced at the hearing yesterday morning related to the values of the animals, and tended to support the allegations of the complaints in this regard. The hearing, it is expected, will be complete within the next two days. It is considered probable that if the higher valuations asked by the complainants are granted, the railroads will ask the commission for an increase in rates. Just what amount of increase they will ask is not definitely known.

The present case may possibly be disposed of without briefs being submitted to the interstate commission, and also without argument, if the Cummins bill, which is now before the senate, passes. This bill provides for the elimination of all limited liabilities. A similar provision is included in the stock and bond bill, now before the house. This bill is said to be an administration measure, and President Wilson is believed to be strongly urging its passage. It was at first thought, when the hearing of the present case was set, that it might be better to postpone it to await the fortunes of one or the other of these measures in congress, but it was finally decided to go ahead with the hearing, leaving the case to be disposed of if the one of the measures is passed later.

WASHINGTON, July 15.—"Plucking" of naval officers from the active list will be inquired into by a house naval affairs subcommittee tomorrow, with Rear Admiral Knight, chairman of this year's plucking board, on the stand. ENTERTAINING THE VISITORS

THE plans of the Chamber of Commerce for additional entertainment for visitors this summer include two events which ought to be highly successful—a barbecue in Cheyenne canon, and a mask ball in the open air, similar to those given in the last three carnivals.

Two years ago when the traveling passenger agents held their convention in Denver they visited this city and were entertained by Manager Dunning of the Antlers hotel at a barbecue dinner in the canon. The food was cooked over big fires built in a trench twenty or thirty feet long, and it is doubtful whether visitors to Colorado Springs were ever more genuinely delighted with their entertainment than were the 200 and more members of this party.

A barbecue next month, when the tourist season will be at its height, would arouse the greatest interest. Most of our visitors probably never have picnicked in the mountains and the novelty of the experience is not soon forgotten.

* * * * *

The most popular feature of each of our summer carnivals was undoubtedly the mask ball, given on Kiowa street in the block between Tejon and Nevada. Last year the seating capacity was considerably increased, but the crowd of spectators was so large that even the curbs on both sides were lined, and the dancers completely filled the street throughout the block. The novelty of the affair and the perfection of the arrangements made it a complete success, not only in point of popularity but financially as well. The money earned by the mask ball went far each time toward paying the expenses of the carnival. Under proper supervision the affair could be repeated each year and be an excellent means of entertaining the summer visitors.

EXIT HUERTA?

SO MANY reports have been printed of Huerta's intention to resign, and of his equally firm intention not to resign, that the public will not be convinced until it knows that he is actually on the high seas. A few days ago he was quoted as saying that he would not give up until half the population of Mexico City had been slaughtered in defense of his cause, which indicated a purpose to resist Villa's advance to the end. But considering all of the conditions and the precedents in such cases it would be surprising indeed if Huerta did not avail himself of the opportunity to escape with a whole skin.

It is customary for Latin-American presidents, when the inevitable hour of defeat comes, to make a hasty, and usually secret, escape to Europe, and spend their remaining days in Paris in luxurious enjoyment of the loot. That is what Castro did after the collapse of his Venezuelan adventure, and the same thing was done by old Porfirio Diaz of Mexico and various other deposed despots. Huerta is even more fortunate, for everybody concerned, including the foreign powers, are so anxious to get rid of him that they will gladly furnish him safe escort from Mexico City to wherever he wants to go.

* * * * *

After Huerta, what? The elimination of the dictator will completely alter the situation and provide a new set of conditions for President Wilson and the mediators to deal with. It probably will not much affect the plans of Villa and Carranza, who will continue their campaign to capture the capital anway.

But the fundamental idea of Mr. Wilson's diplomacy has been the elimination of Huerta. He has said that he would recognize either Villa or Carranza as president in the event of their success. But that was before the A B C mediators got to work. Under present conditions he would probably favor the selection of a provisional president of satisfactory character who would hold office until an election could be held under circumstances which would afford some sort of guarantee of legality.

This plan might work very well but for the everlasting menace of the conquering rebel army. Villa will not recognize a provisional president any more than he would recognize Huerta; indeed, it would be unreasonable to expect him to yield just as final victory is in sight.

Apparently the Mexican problem is still a long way from solution. It has been the white elephant of the Wilson administration from the beginning, and it may continue as such to the end.

WORTH PATRONIZING

NEXT Monday evening will be Chamber of Commerce night at the Burns theater. Ever since the house was opened three years ago Mr. Burns has generously donated the entire proceeds of a performance to the support of the commercial organization which works so ably and unceasingly to advance the welfare of the Pikes Peak Region. That his generosity is appreciated by the public is shown by the large attendance at each of these performances; to say that it is appreciated by the men at the head of the Chamber of Commerce would be superfluous.

The work constantly carried on by this valuable organization requires a great deal of money. The only sources of revenue are the membership dues and the contributions of a few enthusiastic supporters. It is, therefore, not only desirable but important to make the most of every opportunity to increase the revenue, for every added dollar helps to build up a bigger, better and more prosperous Pikes Peak Region.

We hope that the public will respond to this announcement with the enthusiasm which it has previously shown on such occasions. Tickets for the performance will be sold at regular prices, and the purchaser will have the satisfaction not merely of helping a good cause, but of getting his money's worth.

UP IN THE AIR

A GERMAN aviator broke the world's altitude record the other day by reaching a height of nearly 25,000 feet in his biplane nearly five miles. Only a few days previously another birdman broke the then record by attaining an elevation of 21,654 feet.

Astonishing things occur in such rapid succession nowadays that it is unsafe to make predictions. Less than ten years ago the flying machine was still a thing of the future. People talked of it as they talk of perpetual motion an impossibility which nobody but dreamers and visionaries believed could ever be practicable. But since then men have flown across the American continent, they have crossed the Alps and the Mediterranean, flown from England to the continent and within a few weeks, in all probability, an aeroplane will actually cross the Atlantic ocean.

The world do move!

ACROSS ATLANTIC IN 13 HOURS.

From the Baltimore Evening Times.

The proposed transatlantic flight in the Curtiss airship, for which preparations are now being made at Hammondsport, naturally is being awaited in this and foreign countries with a vast amount of popular interest. The point at which the hitch comes is in securing sufficient planing power to raise the weight in supplies and gasoline necessary for so extended a trip. It is expected that the flight can be made in 13 hours, and, on this point, Dr. Alexander Graham Bell, inventor of the telephone, has written a very interesting bulletin for the National Geographic Society.

"The distance from Newfoundland to Ireland is less than 2,000 miles," says Dr. Bell. "This means that if you go at 100 miles an hour you will cross the Atlantic in 20 hours—less than a day. We have flying machines that go at a greater speed than that. We already have machines that could cross the ocean if their engines can keep going for 20 hours. Of course, these are exceptional machines; but even the ordinary machines of today make 50 miles an hour with ease.

"Now, a flying machine flies faster as you go higher up, because the rarer air offers less resistance to the motion, while the propeller gives the same push with the same power, whatever the elevation. As you get into the rarer air the propeller spins around faster. A 50-mile-an-hour machine flying two miles high in the air—and we have machines that have gone twice as high as that—will fly much faster than 50 miles an hour. Then at an elevation of two miles in the air there is a constant wind blowing in the general direction of Europe, having a velocity anywhere from 25 to 50 miles an hour.

"As a net result of all these things, there can be little doubt that any ordinary machine that is able to support itself in the air at an elevation of two miles high will attain a speed of at least 100 miles an hour in the direction of Europe, and that means going from America to Europe in a single day. Calculation, shows that, taking all these circumstances into consideration, our best machines should be able to cross the Atlantic in 13 hours. I hardly dare say it aloud for publication. It is sufficiently startling to know that it is not only possible, but probable, that the passage may be made in a single day. But if, as I imagine, it can be done in 13 hours, you may take an early breakfast in Newfoundland and a late dinner in Ireland the same night."

Surely we are coming to the annihilation of distance.

MERGING OF THE CHEROKEE NATION.

From the Christian Science Monitor.

After nearly 300 years of futile struggle against the inevitable the Cherokee nation as an entity dissolves and the Cherokee people enter the melting pot of American citizenship to come out with all other nations and tribes in this republic as part of the common stock. The Cherokees have long been classed as a civilized tribe, and they have long deservedly ranked as the most intelligent and advanced among the North American aboriginal population. Although they are the last of the five civilized nations to enter into a treaty with the United States for the dissolution of their tribal affairs, they were the largest and by common consent regarded as the most important. To the Cherokees more than to any of the other nations in the compact was due the material, social and intellectual progress of Indian territory which made possible the erection upon it of a sovereign commonwealth.

They have contributed able men to councils with the whites through many generations; from their tribal communities have come the Benges, Boudinots, Hastings, Rogers, Rosses, Thompsons, Mayos, Dowings, Walkingsticks, Owens and other families that, in turn, have contributed to the territory, to Oklahoma and to the nation distinguished citizens, private, professional and public.

It should be said that the merging of the Cherokees with the dominant race began, in reality, many years ago. The traits and characteristics thus intermixed have manifested themselves in sterling qualities of manhood and womanhood.

WHAT DOES WEALTH MEAN TO YOU?

From Collier's.

It makes us stop and think to see at item like this:

"Hammond, Ind.—Receiving a letter from Greece that he is heir to a $7,000,000 estate, Mathian Constante, a steel worker here, has hired five close friends at $5,000 a year apiece to help him spend his money. That is all they will have to do."

This man has the same view of riches that the Huns and Goths had fifteen hundred years ago: lots to eat and drink, money to spend. The power that wealth gives, the room for living and serving, the long reach of it toward the future under the fostering of science—to all things Mathias Constante is blind. What does wealth mean to you? What dream of yours would come true if you had $7,000,000 at your command tomorrow?

BEAUTY

BY GEORGE FITCH
Author of "At Good Old Siwash"

Beauty is something which makes the eye glad. Some of us are very indifferent concerning our eyes and do not care whether they enjoy themselves or not. But most of us have kindly feelings for them and give them a treat whenever possible. Nothing pleases a young man so much as to detain a beautiful girl by soft adhesive words for many hours in order that his eyes may enjoy life.

Nature has provided enough beauty in the world to fill all the eyes therein and please a plentiful supply for future generations. In some countries man assists nature with all his might and builds cities and rearranges landscapes so as to keep the eye in a continual state of bliss. But this is a hasty and careless country full of men who are becoming millionaires by erecting signboards in inappropriate places and building structures designed by an enemy of humanity. In consequence, the man who is good to his eyes usually fits them with a pair of blinders before he walks down the streets of a modern metropolis.

"The great wisdom of nature which has equipped each pair of eyes with a different idea of beauty."

Some people are so fond of beauty that they spend millions of dollars buying it by the square foot or the ton from artists and sculptors. Others buy a guidebook and a ticket several yards long and spend months wandering through those parts of the world which can be looked at without severe pain. But the most popular way of pleasing the eye is to marry some girl who is the most beautiful in the world.

Herein we see the great wisdom of nature, which has equipped each pair of eyes with a different idea of beauty. Suppose all men were agreed on the subject? In this case a million men would be struggling for the same girl with everything from roses to sawed off shotguns while the rest of the available women would be sitting on the side lines unpestered by attention.

Instead of this condition, almost every man marries the most beautiful woman in the world, in most cases entirely unopposed even by worshipers of art—which proves conclusively that beauty is mostly in the eye.

Time and the Roses

BY RUTH CAMERON

"The old order changeth, yielding place to new
And God fulfills himself in many ways
Lest one good custom should corrupt the world."
—Tennyson.

A friend of mine told me this story:

She was putting some folwers on her little son's grave. He has been dead but a few months. It was the first great grief of her life.

The old gardener of the burying ground was raking the leaves nearby and watching her in a kindly way. I think he must have seen her race working as she bent over the flowers, for by and by he came nearer to her and leaning on his rake, said something about the weather. Soon they were talking in friendly fashion, and before she knew it the face working as she bent over burdened heart by telling the old gardener about her grief.

He listened in the kindly wisdom and patience that years of dwelling in the city of the dead seemed to have brought him. And by and by, after the first torrent of said and tender memories had spent itself, he tried to make her realize that time will heal, the deepest wound and that this first sorrow would not darken her whole life.

Of course she could not believe that. She saw ahead only a long vista of grieving. Others might forget but their sorrow was not so great as hers.

And then the gardener told her his story. "In one year," he said, "I lost my money, my wife and my two children. One blow after another fell upon me and when my last child, my baby, died in my arms I wanted to go too. If it hadn't been for friends who would not let me I should have surely gone. That was twenty-two years ago. Have I forgotten? No, but I do not sorrow any more. Am I happy? Yes, I think I am. Not as I was as a child or a young man, of course, but happy in an old man's way. I have my books and my flowers, and two of my grandnieces live with me. It's meant a great deal to them to have a home, and I'm glad I could give it. 'Time brings roses,' as my Dutch grandfather used to say."

To believe with one's mind in the midst of a great sorrow that one may be happy again some day, is possible.

But to believe it with one's heart is impossible.

And yet it does some good to lay hold of that thought and keep it in one's mind.

It does some good to realize that people who have been through as great griefs as yours—and there are few who can tell of a more crushing year of sorrow than the old gardener of the burying ground—have come back again into the sunshine and found that life still holds some happiness for them

Billy Sunday Letters

The Gazette will print in this column letters on both sides of the Billy Sunday question, but reserves the right to pass judgment as to fitness for publication on all letters submitted. All communications must be limited to 250 words, and must bear the name and address of the writer for publication.

To the Editor of the Gazette:

In summing up "some results" of Sunday's work here, the Rev. M. N. Smith tells of a converted workman who, on hearing a brother workman vituperate Sunday, said to the latter, "One more and I'll spoil your face."

Is a threat like than an evidence of conversion? And, if so, conversion to what?

When Jesus was betrayed, and one of his followers "smote the servant of the high priest, and cut off his right ear," Jesus said, "Suffer ye thus far," "And he touched his ear and healed him."

And as one who strives to follow the Master, haltingly and afar off though it may be, the above "effect" is painful, and I earnestly pray it may prove an isolated case.

And again — if the doctrine of "eternal damnation," so much used by Sunday, be true, then indeed has it come to pass that mortal man is more just than God. According to my research, and the word of God in my heart, Jesus did not teach it; common sense denies it; our ideals of social justice deny it; and everyone who believes that punishment is not an end in itself, but should be remedial and disciplinary, denies it.

Is our modern conception of divinity lower than that of the book of Job, whose questions vibrate down the centuries?

"Shall mortal man be more just than God; shall a man be more pure than his Maker?"

In conclusion—"Ye are taught of God to love one another."

ALIETTA A. CRAIG.

Colorado Springs, July 15.

To the Editor of The Gazette:

Billy Sunday serves two purposes—he gives good advice and, incidentally, put $150 per day in his own pocket, as well as a nice sum for his helpers. A large part of this money came from families who make a bare living, but felt it their duty to contribute. And Mr. Sunday said nothing about rejecting any of this money, even if it came from a washerwoman with not a week's meals ahead. Union services, with a leader chosen alternately from the ministry, could be held, would get as large crowds as Billy had, and would have as many souls and some ten or twelve thousand dollars in money.

G. W. GARNER.

Wichita, Kan., July 14.

To the Editor of The Gazette:

I, a convert of this recent campaign, wish to express myself. Billy has preached the feeling into the people. They have paid the price. A thing that comes high is surely worth holding onto, so why not? I find no fault with the ministers exactly, but the churches as a whole are not congenial enough. The members seem to feel as if they have all that is necessary (let others get theirs as best they can) and they look upon new beginners as if they were hardly the thing; or, at least, they make us feel so when we go into the house of worship.

If Christians would do their part let them take every convert into the folds of their churches and give them the glad hand and heart. It will make them feel better and hold them to the church. But if the members sit and look upon us as if we were criminals, while we know they were all in the same boat once, it will cause a lot of unwilling backsliding.

Let everybody get busy. The monthly meetings suggested is a good idea. Let the ministers select a church and call a free-for-all meeting for prayer and handshaking and "cheering up"—the old spirit—and make it interesting for the new beginner. We will get the habit; we all know how habits grow, and a lot of us may become Billy Sundays.

D. E. BROOKS.

Colorado Springs, July 15.

Commerce Demands Erie-Ontario Canal

WASHINGTON, July 15.—The house foreign affairs committee had before it today Secretary Garrison's letter urging removal of restrictions upon importation of electric power from Canada and retention of the present limit of 15,600 cubic feet per second upon the amount of water diverted for power purposes from the Niagara river above the falls on the American side.

Secretary Garrison accompanied his letter with a report by Brigadier General Kingman, chief of engineers of the army, declaring that the enormous commerce on the Great Lakes probably would soon demand a ship canal between Lakes Erie and Ontario on American soil. Secretary Garrison stated that there apparently was no good reason for an express limitation upon water diverted below the falls.

Army in Philippines Adopts Native Bolo

WASHINGTON, July 15.—Recognition of the bolo usually associated with fierce Philippine campaigns as a weapon for more peaceable pursuits is reflected in a war department circular today providing for the issuance of these broad swords to militia machine gun companies.

The bolo became part of the regular army equipment after the Spanish war. Although it was used with deadly effect by the Filipinos in warfare, it has always been the principal industrial instrument in the islands. It was used not only in cutting through the jungle but in the harvesting of such crops as were included in the primitive agriculture of the natives.

As it has proved to be such a good all around implement its use has been extended to the militia since it is especially adapted for use in clearing camp sites and in pitching tents.

IN THE EARLY DAYS

THIRTY YEARS AGO TODAY

JULY 16, 1884.

With the growing population of the western states the cattle ranges were becoming overstocked and a movement was on foot to have the government lease or sell the ranges on the plains.

County Superintendent of School B. A. P. Eaton, who had just completed the school census of district 12, reported that there were 508 boys and 548 girls, a total of 1,056 children of school age residing in the district. The previous year there had been 1,059.

It was reported that the D. & R. G. pay car was on the way from Denver to pay off all the employes of the road. This was welcome news to the railroad men who had not received any wages for three months.

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

JULY 16, 1894.

John Calderwood, president of the Cripple Creek miners union came to Colorado Springs and surrendered to the sheriff. He was immediately released on bond. Tarsney & Montgomery had been fired by the miners as their counsel, and J. K. Vannatta of this city hired in their place.

A mass meeting was held to consider plans for raising the rest of the money needed to build the Coliseum (Temple theater). H. G. Lunt presided, and strong speeches urging everyone to support the project were made by George Rex Buckman and Major Insley.

The Rev. Johnathan Edwards, first professor of Colorado college and first pastor of the First Congregational church here, died at his home in Massachusetts.

Giles Otis Pearce, the assayer, was brought over from Colorado City to serve out a fine in the county jail for carrying concealed weapons.

CHEAP ICEBOX WASTEFUL

An icebox may be a failure in either of two ways. It may permit the food to spoil or it may eat ice. If food spoils it is because the interior of the icebox is too warm or too dirty. The nearer the temperature to freezing the better the food will keep. The effort is to keep the food around 40. Forty-five is fairly satisfactory; 50 is too high, and above 50 much too high. Bacteria will grow at any temperature above 45. Milk will sour and meat will rot above that temperature.

Ten minutes' trial with a thermometer will tell the story. Have you tried your icebox? It is safe to say you have not. Dr. Williams of Rochester tried 300 ordinary refrigerators such as are found in the general run of homes. In 123 the temperature was below 50; in 177 it was above it.

The next point of importance is: Is the icebox an ice eater? In a properly regulated icebox the temperature of the inside is 30 degrees or more lower than that of the outside air. If the wall is properly insulated the amount of ice required to hold the inside temperature is not great. A poor wall allows the heat of the room to cross the refrigerator wall and melt the ice.

A poor grade $15 icebox will use about 150 pounds of ice a week, at a cost for the summer of $14.45 for ice. A better grade icebox with two inches of cork board in the wall, set in the same place, will keep the same temperature on 65 pounds a week. The saving in the ice bill for the summer will be $8.65. It does not pay to buy a cheap refrigerator.

However, it does not pay to buy fancy trimmings on an icebox. What counts most of all is the insulation. Do not buy until you know that the insulation is good—cork board, paper and air space, or their equivalent. If a substance is used that is less efficient than cork board, demand that the thickness be increased to compensate.

Next in importance is a hard, smooth lining. The shelves and compartments must lend themselves readily to periodical cleaning and sunning.

As to arguments about the points where the water precipitates out of the air and how the air circulates, listen to them, all; give to each its proper weight, but don't let anybody talk you away from that insulation. Some philosopher has enjoined us to always keep one foot on a fact. The insulation is the one overshadowing factor. Always keep one foot on that.

FORGET FLOATING KIDNEY.

Worried writes: "Is there any cure for a floating kidney? I am told an operation is necessary. Would the kidney have to be removed, and is it a dangerous operation? What causes a floating kidney? Has it ever been known to right itself?

REPLY.

The chances are that your floating kidney will do you no harm, and the less attention you give it the better. The operation for removal done by a good surgeon is not dangerous.

Floating kidney is a congenital condition. You were born that way.

TURKISH BATH EFFECTS.

A. J. writes: "What benefits, if any, in a general way, are derived from so-called hot air or Turkish baths? Also, what ill effects? I have been in the habit of taking them at home by heating a closet to a temperature of 12[illegible] to 130 degrees, and, of course, inhaling or breathing the heated air while perspiring. Is there danger in using an burning wood alcohol in taking these baths, and producing the heat in connection with a small kerosene stove?

REPLY.

1. They cleanse the skin extra well. They furnish one way, though not a good one, of getting rid of dropsical accumulations. They stir up the circulation. Temporarily they increase vastly the amount of blood in the skin capillaries and decrease the amount in the internal organs. When we know more about the sympathetic nervous system and develop systems of treatment based thereon, such baths, along with the drugs, atropine, epinephrine, alcohol and nicotine, will come into wide use. At the present time the use of hot air baths is a hit and miss business. People with high blood pressures or with weak hearts are liable to get into trouble in hot air or Turkish baths.

2. Yes. Wood alcohol burned at high temperature does not harm, but when it is burned at a low temperature formaldehyde is produced. In burning some will burn at a temperature low enough to produce formaldehyde. What is of more consequence, some vaporized wood alcohol will escape into the room unburned. Does not a kerosene light smell of oil, however perfect the light seems?

HABIT OF BLUSHING.

R. writes: "I am 18 years of age, and my face turns crimson whenever I speak in the presence of strangers, especially girls. At school I could not recite in front of my class without blushing so violently that I could feel my face burning. How can I overcome this?"

REPLY.

You are 18. Start right now to correct this bad mental habit. It will take time and persistence, but you will win.

Do not merely read but study Sadler's "Physiology of Faith and Fear," Mitchell's "Self-Help for Nervous Women," Lubois' "Education of Self."

HAVE CISTERN CLEANED.

R. writes: "Is it unhealthy to drink cistern water that smells and tastes strongly in the warm weather? What, if anything, is the best thing to do to get rid of this smell and taste?"

REPLY.

1. Yes.

2. The cistern should be emptied, cleaned and sunned.

NO ILLINOIS LAW.

F. W. A. writes: "Is there an Illinois law requiring a physician to make a blood test in cases of typhoid and submit the result to the state board of health?"

REPLY.

No, but there should be.

The reporting of typhoid or cases suspected of being typhoid is usually required either by city ordinance or by rule of the health department.

If you have ever used Chamberlain's Colic Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy you know that it is a success. Wm. F. I had an awful time, and had it not been for Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy I could not possibly have lived but a few hours longer, but thanks to this remedy, I am now well and strong." Manager Harry P. Robison of the Midland band has arranged for a special concert to be given in Manitou, at Soda Springs park, tomorrow afternoon, starting at 2 o'clock. This will be in honor of the Elks who have been attending the golden jubilee of the grand lodge in Denver and are now visiting in the Pikes Peak region. A program of favorite Elk airs, concluding with "Auld Lang Syne" has been prepared by Director Ernest Gerdin.

THOUSANDS OF ELKS WILL TURN TOWARD COLORADO SPRINGS BEFORE WEEK ENDS

Many of Delegations Now in Denver Coming to Region Before Returning Home

Colorado Springs and the Pikes Peak region have strong representation at Denver in connection with the Elks Golden Jubilee, and as a result of the effective advertising campaign which is being carried on by the committees and members of the Colorado Springs lodge No. 309, B. P. O. E., in cooperation with the Chamber of Commerce, the Colorado Springs-Manitou Publicity association, and the Hotel and Restaurant Men's association, it is expected that practically every one of the out-of-the-state delegations will come to the Pikes Peak region for several days' sightseeing. The tide of travel this way will start tomorrow and by Saturday will be in full swing, with many special trains booked for this region and with large delegations from every state arranging for several days' visit.

Through the headquarters of the local lodge, at the Brown Palace hotel, in charge of an active committee, the thousands of Elks are being informed of the important reason why they should visit the Pikes Peak region. Chamber of Commerce folders, copies of Daily Doings and the folders of the various resorts are being distributed in large quantities. The room is decorated with many pictures of local scenes, including the large birdseye view map of the Pikes Peak region made for the Chamber of Commerce.

Through the permanent publicity bureau, maintained all summer in Denver under the supervision of the Colorado Springs-Manitou Publicity association, further work is being done by W. H. Gelatt and his special assistant for this week, Joe Malone, of the Chamber of Commerce staff.

A reel of moving pictures of the Pikes Peak region, depicting interesting scenes in the Garden of the Gods and other places and supplemented by a set of 30 splendidly colored slides is being shown several times a day at the rooms of the Denver Chamber of Commerce. At these same headquarters, a special table with Pikes Peak region literature is on display.

In addition, the regular folder pack service for distribution of the Chamber of Commerce folder and Daily Doings is maintained in full force all week at all of the hotels, lodging houses and information bureaus.

Personal work is being done by the 200 or more members of the local lodge, by the representatives of the various hotels and scenic attractions and by a great many local people who are in Denver this week for the purpose of giving the right kind of publicity to the things this region has to offer the stranger in the way of sightseeing and entertainment.

A factor of great importance also is the Elks band, supplemented in the parade today by the Midland band. The Elks band has been in Denver all week, and its concerts have been a notable feature.

Romaine Fielding has his camera man in Denver to make a film of the big parade today, and he will take special pains to see that the representation of Colorado Springs lodge No. 309 is fully portrayed.

While estimates vary as to the size of the attendance, practically all of the out-of-the-state Elks will come to the Pikes Peak region, and many hundreds will make a trip here as a direct result of the effective publicity given by the local lodge and commercial organizations.

Views Show Conditions in El Paso County—Many Inquiries Regarding Land Sale

Pictures taken on the agricultural trip last Friday, showing the pit silo in operation, fields of rye, grain cutting, stopping places and the string of automobiles that went on the tour, are on exhibition at the state land offices in the Chamber of Commerce rooms, and give an interesting idea of the trip for those who did not go.

Inquiries continue to come in at the state office concerning the sale of state lands, and, although they are at present mostly local and represent residents of Colorado Springs, it is expected that as soon as the advertising campaign is under way a great many will come in from the different states. One letter of inquiry has been received by the Chamber of Commerce from a man in Houston, Tex., and many more are expected in a short time.

A great deal of expert information based on scientific investigation has been prepared by the land board for the prospective farmer.

COLORADO SPRINGS FIRST AS REAL 'FLYLESS TOWN'

Mosquito and Fly Almost Unknown This Summer, Due to Early Season Campaign

Due largely to the cool weather and frequent rains, the fly and the mosquito have been forgotten in the Pikes Peak region this summer. Early season precautions by the health department and the enforced covering of all places where flies might breed have had much to do with the absence of the pests, and authorities say that even if warmer weather does come, the flies will not be abundant this season. The mosquito, generally a scarce insect in the region, is almost negligible this year.

The rains of the last 10 days have filled city reservoirs on Pikes Peak and but little irrigation has been needed for lawns or gardens.

BIDS OPENED FOR CONDUIT WORK

The Guarantee Paving company, with a bid of 40 cents per cubic yard for excavating and filling, and $1.74 per lineal foot for concrete work, submitted the lowest estimate on the construction of a 300-foot concrete conduit to carry the flood waters from the Mesa road across the west side of Monument Valley park into Monument creek. The bids were opened at the council meeting yesterday morning and were referred to the department of public works and property for recommendation.

At the meeting yesterday morning, the council granted the Robinson Drug company a liquor license.

GLASS OF SALTS CLEANS KIDNEYS

IF YOUR BACK HURTS OR BLADDER BOTHERS YOU, DRINK LOTS OF WATER

When your kidneys hurt and your back feels sore, don't get scared and proceed to load your stomach with a lot of drugs that excite the kidneys and irritate the entire urinary tract. Keep your kidneys clean like you keep your bowels clean, by flushing them with a mild, harmless salts which removes the body's urinous waste and stimulates them to their normal activity. The function of the kidneys is to filter the blood. In 24 hours they strain from it 500 grains of acid and waste, so we can readily understand the vital importance of keeping the kidneys active.

Drink lots of water—you can't drink too much; also get from any pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys will act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate clogged kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep their kidneys clean and active. Try this, also keep up the water drinking, and no doubt you will wonder what became of your kidney trouble and backache. Adv.

COMMITTEES NAMED FOR MASKED BALL

"Day of Carnival," August 27, Will Wind Up With Big Outdoor Dance

An afternoon program of festivities will be a big part of the "Day of Carnival," to be held August 27, under the auspices of the Chamber of Commerce. Fred C. Matthews and J. P. Shearer have been appointed to work out the details of the affair, and special features are now being outlined.

Ralph O. Giddings, chairman of the general committee for the mask ball and carnival, has appointed the following chairmen of subcommittees to work with him in planning the celebration. They will be as follows: Tod Powell, vice chairman and entertainment; O. P. Grimes, ushers; Dr. E. R. Neeper, music; James W. Avery, tickets; J. F. Postal, lighting; W. S. Dunning, parade; T. E. Nowels, press; J. W. Atkinson, grandstand; W. D. Hemming, floor; H. T. Lowe, prizes.

The mask ball, probably the most successful entertainment feature ever attempted in the region, is of course to be the principal event. As in the last three years, it will be given on Kiowa street between Tejon street and Nevada avenue. The Midland band probably will supply the music, and with the colored lights, thousands of masked merrymakers and the stands filled with spectators, the affair will prove a brilliant feature for both residents and tourists alike. Members of the committee state that the ball will be made even more attractive than in the past.

Wells-Fargo Adds to Field Covered

The Wells-Fargo Express company has secured a considerable portion of the business formerly handled by the United States Express company, which went out of business July 1. With the increased mileage the Wells-Fargo company has one of the largest express companies in the world. According to W. W. Cowan, local agent for the Wells-Fargo, the extension of lines will be as follows:

	Miles.
Baltimore & Ohio	3,548
Baltimore & Southwestern	985
Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton	1,915
Chicago & Eastern Illinois	1,274
St. Louis & San Francisco	4,746
Maryland Electric	27
Cumberland & Pennsylvania	55
Total	11,646

This makes a total of 110,969 miles operated by Wells-Fargo & Co. with 9,000 agencies scattered over the United States (including Alaska and the Hawaiian islands) and in Mexico and Europe. Wells-Fargo & Co. fared better than any of its competitors in securing business which was relinquished by the United States Express company, inasmuch as it gives this company, long regarded as a western proposition, traffic facilities in the east never before enjoyed. New routes being opened up to Baltimore, New York, Philadelphia and Washington.

THREE MORE WITNESSES TO BE HEARD IN CARMAN CASE

Whether Defendants' Request to Appear Will Be Granted Rests With Grand Jurors

MINEOLA, N. Y., July 15.—When the grand jury, investigating the murder of Mrs. Louise Bailey in Freeport, on June 30, and the alleged complicity of Mrs. Florence Conklin Carman, adjourned today but three more witnesses remained to be heard. District Attorney Smith said he believed the inquisitors would dispose of the case by noon tomorrow.

Whether Mrs. Carman will be brought from the Nassau county jail to tell her story is a problem only the grand jurors themselves can solve. Their decision is expected tomorrow morning.

District Attorney Smith stated positively that he would refuse the physician's wife permission to testify, even though she should sign a waiver of immunity. Then her attorney, George M. Levy, and her husband visited her in the jail and had her sign a petition addressed to the jury in which she requested the privilege of appearing before that body and abandoning all rights to immunity.

The most important witness today was Frank J. Farrell, whose story, as he told it to District Attorney Smith, was that on the night of June 30, being out of a job and hungry, he started for the back door of the Carman home to ask for food. He was rounding one of the rear corners of the Carman house, his story went, when he saw a tall woman dressed either in a long cloak or kimono come from the back door, go directly to a window in what he now knows to be the doctor's office and break the glass.

Farrell said he did not know whether the woman had a revolver or not. If she did, he did not see it. Farrell's story continued that he heard a shot and quickly hurried off.

His story furnishes corroboration for Celia Coleman, a negro maid in the Carman residence, whose amplified story told yesterday was to the effect that her mistress, dressed in a kimono, rushed through the kitchen directly after the shot was fired.

Committee Approves Lighthouse Service

WASHINGTON, July 15.—General administration of the bureau of lighthouses was approved by a committee of inquiry which submitted its report today. The committee consisted of Secretary Redfield and Assistant Secretary Sweet of the department of commerce, and Director Stratton, of the bureau of standards. The investigators declared that loyalty to the service and a high degree of discretion and business ability marked the conduct of Commissioner Putnam and his chief assistants.

The report stated that since the reorganization of the lighthouse service four years ago, there has been a small dissatisfied and discontented element. There were a few cases of insubordination. During the inquiry dismissal of some members of the service was recommended.

Business dealings of the bureau with a private corporation which employed a former deputy commissioner were declared to be entirely free from any taint. The inquiry was begun several months ago at the request of Commissioner Putnam. Several charges had been made against the conduct of the bureau.

WHAT THE PRESS AGENTS SAY

EMPRESS

"The Lure of the Pit" will be shown today. John Manton, idealist, is ambitious to reform social conditions. His work takes him into the sluins where he meets Edith Strong, daughter of John Strong, a Wall street broker. As Edith's aim in life is akin to John's it is natural that the two, being young, fall in love. Kuvalda, an old clock maker, is the confident and adviser of both. John, who is a grain specialist, agrees with Kuvalda that Wall street needs reforming. When John and Edith marry, Strong presents John with a seat on the exchange. Just to show them that he has nerve he joins them in one deal which he carries to unexpected success. The fever enters his veins and he forgets his purpose to reform "the street." In a year he is the leader of the clique bent on cornering wheat. The price of bread rises and the poor suffer. Edith, his wife, pleads in vain for John to remember his promises. Kuvalda's remonstrances are unavailing. John is money mad. His opponent in the deal is Van Sloan, another broker, who had desired Edith for his wife. The great wheat corner is almost complete, when Van Sloan discovers an unexpected source of supply. He lacks funds, however, with which to secure the wheat. Edith learns of the situation and hands Van Sloan the money which will mean ruin for her own husband. But his ruin is financial only. His honor and peace are restored. With Edith he starts life anew.

OPERA HOUSE

"The Blind Cattle King," by Romaine Fielding, will be shown today. Don Romero, a blind cattle king of Mexico dresses in a garb of a peon, and leaves his home determined to seek a mate who does not know of his great wealth. He steals a ride on a train which carries him across the Mexican border into the United States. There he is arrested. Miss Barnes gets her father to intercede with the railroad detective and he takes the blind man home. Barnes becomes incensed to think that he allowed a tramp to be brought into his home and he puts the blind man out. Mary's heart has gone out to the afflicted one and she seeks a lawyer friend and asks him to help her find her protege.

The blind man wandering into the hills finally falls exhausted. Mary unknowingly follows almost in the blind man's footsteps. Her horse becomes unmanageable and runs away, running into a lake. The blind man hears her cries and goes to her assistance, saving her from being drowned.

They return home to find the father and lawyer worried over her absence. The lawyer recognizes the cattle king, but Don Romero stops him from disclosing his identity. Later Don Romero returns to the home of Mary and meets her. She determines to run away with him; they are married and he takes her back to Mexico with him. Arriving upon his own immense lands he tells her that they are all hers.

BARNUM AND BAILEY CIRCUS

The Barnum and Bailey circus will be here August 3. The big new feature this year is a romantic pageantric spectacle, "The Wizard Prince of Arabia." The grand entree of other years has been permanently eliminated. The action of the play begins in the mountains and deserts of the Bedouins and moves to romantic India and startles the most vivid imagination. A ballet of 400 girls assists the wizard prince, and sacred cattle, richly accoutred, gambol with elephants and camels. The spectacle is followed by a three-hour show in the arena.

MICHAEL J. GILL

When Michael J. Gill of St. Louis ran for the house of representatives against L. C. Dyer in St. Louis more than a year ago, he had money in the bank and he owned a nice home. Dyer went to the house, but Gill determined to contest the seat. He spent what money he had in the bank and also the value of his home.

With very little money he moved his family to Washington to be near the scene to carry on his contest. He got work in a glass works near Washington, at $2 a day, and his son played a violin in moving picture shows of Washington to aid in the fight.

The day Gill was seated he went to the office of the sergeant at arms where he drew $12,500, back pay for the time he was kept from the house. The son will now go to Europe to study the violin under good instructors.

tion plant at Florence, was operated part of the year on old tailings. The public report of the Portland company for 1913 shows a total of 178,162 tons of an average assay value of $2.35 per ton was treated at the Portland company's Victor mill, with satisfactory net earnings. The Stratton's Independence report shows a recovery of 78.48 per cent on ore averaging $3.076 per ton, the cost of working the mill being $1.46 per ton.

Leadville Output.

Lake county (chiefly Leadville, but for 1913 including the new Lackawanna district, in addition to Big English gulch and Sugar Loaf districts) produced $1,023,631 in gold, 3,400,318 ounces of silver (which represents 36 per cent of the state yield), 1,923,987 pounds of copper, 29,286,182 pounds of lead and 93,842,857 pounds of zinc (representing 79 per cent of the state yield), with a total value of $9,919,423, as against $11,780,131 in 1912. The output of zinc carbonate was 135,760 tons of 27.45 per cent zinc, against 142,782 tons of 29.2 per cent in 1912. The production of zinc sulphide shipped was 94,636 tons of 25 per cent zinc, as compared with 104,148 tons of 21 per cent in 1912. Other classes of ore from Leadville showed little chance from 1912. The zinc carbonate ore was treated at zinc oxide plants and zinc smelters in Kansas, Oklahoma, Illinois and Wisconsin. The larger part of the zinc and zinc-lead sulphide ore was first treated at the sulphuric acid plant and magnetic separation and wet concentration plant of the Western Chemical company of Denver, at the magnetic separation plant of the Empire Zinc company at Canon City, at the magnetic plant of the United States Zinc company at Pueblo, a small tonnage being treated at the Leadville district mill by wet concentration at Leadville. Zinc concentrators and the balance of the zinc and zinc-lead sulphide ores were treated at sulphuric acid plants, zinc oxide plants and zinc smelters in Colorado, Kansas, Oklahoma, Illinois, Ohio, West Virginia and Wisconsin. Lead and iron concentrates from the milling plants and residues from the sulphuric acid plants and zinc smelters were (in some cases) returned to lead smelters in Colorado, where were recovered part of the gold, silver, copper and lead contained in the original ores.

The San Juan region of Dolores, La Plata, Ouray, San Juan and San Miguel counties produced $4,872,400 in gold, 2,769,680 ounces of silver, 3,373,935 pounds of copper, 21,740,502 pounds of lead and 6,867,410 pounds of zinc, as compared with $4,115,345 in gold, 2,562,096 ounces of silver, 3,000,173 pounds of copper, 20,752,156 pounds of lead and 6,375,073 pounds of zinc in 1912. There was an increase for gold of $5,593 in Dolores, $177,500 in La Plata and $134,038 in San Juan; and a decrease of $90,213 in Ouray and $269,863 in San Miguel. There was an increase for silver of 78,531 ounces in Dolores, 165,435 in San Juan and 73,174 in La Plata, while there was a decrease of 102,613 ounces in San Miguel county. Dolores county (Rico) made a large increase in the yield of copper, lead and zinc, but the production of lead fell off heavily in San Miguel and Ouray counties.

Chaffee county produced $312,892 in gold, 168,985 ounces of silver, 315,011 pounds of copper, 2,389,590 pounds of lead and 2,121,947 pounds of zinc, with a total value of $714,157, as compared with $279,387 in 1912.

Boulder county's yield of gold bullion decreased almost one-half and there was also a decrease of 1,900 ounces of gold in ores smelted, but the silver output increased 90,049 ounces, and the lead, 103,678 pounds. The total value for 1913 was $89,330, as compared with $181,333 in 1912.

Clear Creek county's output was $432,489 in gold, 408,527 ounces of silver, 426,393 pounds of copper, 3,999,614 pounds of lead and 1,489,518 pounds of zinc, with a total value of $1,004,726, as compared with $1,028,166 in 1912. Gilpin county's output decreased $217,404 in gold and 42,998 ounces of silver, with decreases for lead and copper, the total value being $1,035,740, as compared with $1,380,796 in 1912. Ore mined in Gilpin county through the Newhouse tunnel has been properly accredited to Gilpin county.

The Pitkin county (Aspen) yield was 562,308 ounces of silver and 17,528,386 pounds of lead, an increase of 33,804 ounces and 8,128,053 pounds, respectively.

Creede (Mineral county) produced $50,282 in gold, 806,343 ounces of silver, 31,647 pounds of copper, 2,398,364 pounds of lead and 454,875 pounds of zinc, with a total value of $716,615, as compared with $808,771 in 1912. The output of Hinsdale county showed a decrease of 475,482 pounds of lead. Owing to the closing of the Gold Links mine at Ohio, Gunnison county's output of bullion, ore and concentrates showed a heavy decrease for [illegible] Lead and zinc production also [illegible] creased, but there was an appreciable increase in silver output, owing to the opening of mines at Whitepine and Italian mountain. The output of placer gold from dredges and placer operations at Breckenridge, Summit county, was $386,196, as compared with $392,739 in 1912, but the yield of considerable high grade ore from pocket mines at Breckenridge and increased contents of gold in smelting ore and concentrates from Kokomo, Breckenridge and Montezuma combined gave a total yield of gold for the county of $462,228, as against $426,015 in 1912. Silver, lead and copper yields also increased, but the yield of zinc decreased, owing to the closing of the wet mill of the Wellington company during the latter part of the year, although the magnetic mill continued to be operated. The output of Eagle county, Doul Red Cliff and from Eagle (a new producing district in 1913, with a yield of [illegible] ounces), was $41,220 in gold, [illegible] ounces of silver, 41,268 pounds of copper, 1,361,206 pounds of lead and [illegible] 643 pounds of zinc, with a total value of $693,403, as against $620,571 in 1912. Park county's output of silver, lead and copper increased, more than balancing an appreciable decrease in [illegible]

EW YORK, July 15.—Unusual interest is evinced both in America and Europe in the 20-round boxing bout ween Georges Carpentier and Gunt Smith, to be held in London tomorrow night. Because of the ring nence and nationality of the stants, the match has assumed ternational importance. Carpentier the first of the French pugilistic ol to gain worldwide recognition. ile Smith is one of the leading boxs of the so-called "white hope" s which sprang up following the eat of Jim Jeffries by Jack Johnson, Reno in 1910. 3 to 1 Against Shamrock, Lloyds Is Not Optimistic

GOSPORT, England, July 15.—Everything is ready for the departure on July 18 for the United States of Shamrock IV, Sir Thomas Lipton's challenger for the America's cup. Her compasses have been adjusted, her ketch rig has been fitted, and Sir Thomas' steam yacht Erin is awaiting to convoy her across the Atlantic.

Shamrock IV has done all that has been asked of her, is the final word of Charles E. Nicholson, the designer. He admits, however, that the trial boat was in no way satisfactory as the type of an opponent which would permit yachtsmen accurately to guage Shamrock IV's chances of lifting the cup. Underwriters at Lloyds are not so optimistic as Mr. Nicholson concerning Shamrock's chances. Their estimate today was roughly 3 to 1 against the challenger. In other words, they are issuing policies at a premium of 35 per cent to pay the total loss if Shamrock IV should prove successful.

A similar risk in connection with an aeroplane flight across the Atlantic during the present year is being covered at 8 per cent.

The crew of Shamrock IV, numbering more than 30 men, is to be divided during the voyage across, half of the sailors luxuriating on board the Erin as far as the Azores and then relieving their shipmates for the remainder of the journey.

lanky build, like Bob Fitzsimmons, with powerful arms and shoulders, and possesses a punching power unlooked for from a man of his physique. Two of his most effective blows are an overhand right swing and a right-hand uppercut, either of which is a fight finisher.

Advance Sale Heavy.

The sale of seats at prices ranging from approximately $1 to $50 has been heavy, the cheaper sections having been sold out early in the month. A delegation of French boxing enthusiasts has arranged to follow Carpentier fortunes into England. The English sportsman, basing his belief of a furious battle upon the records of the two boxers against Bombadier Wells, has ordered reservations in quantities which indicate that the 15,000 capacity of the Olympia will be tested.

After one out in the eighth Mollwitz singled and Miller and Erwin obtained bases on balls. This was enough for Mattison and Meyer relieved him. Hohlitzel sent up a sacrifice fly, scoring Mollwitz. Moran then singled to short, bringing home Uhler, who ran for Miller, and afterward entered the game as center fielder. Then Byrne fumbled Herzog's drive and Lavan, running for Erwin, scored. Pittsburg obtained a two-run lead, but the visitors bunched hits in the seventh and eighth innings and tied the score. Mowrey's single, a wild pitch by Allen and a single by Viox gave the Pirates the winning run in the eighth. BONHAG TO TRAIN ATHLETICS

GEORGE BONHAG

It is learned from reliable sources that the man to succeed Lawson Robertson as trainer to the Irish-American A. C. will be George Bonhag, the old distance runner of the club. Bonhag has been identified with athletics for the past 20 years and has won both indoor and outdoor championships at various distances. He also won the Olympic walking championship at the Athens games. At present he is the holder of a number of American records.

CUBANOLAS PLAY ZOOZ ON SUNDAY

The Cubanolas, one of the best-known semipro teams in the west, will be the Zooz' opponents Sunday afternoon at 2:15 o'clock. Tots Birkendahl's well-known players, captained by Mesch, a famous second baseman, have been cleaning up things in Denver and look good for honors in the capital city.

The Zooz are now probably the fastest semipro team that has played on the amusement park field for several years. It is the highest salaried team of its class in the state, and is putting up good ball. Probably the feature that has appealed to fans during the last few games has been the absence of crabbing by the players. This is due largely to the efforts of Manager Colburn and Captain Fusick, and any man who crabs at decisions is fined.

Fusick will be in the box Sunday. His opponent is not known yet.

FLYING BOAT PROBLEM IS SOLVED; TRIP IS ASSURED

Sea Sled Type of Hull Adopted and Party Will Leave for Start on August 1; Will Start August 10

HAMMONDSPORT, N. Y., July 15.—Trials today of the sea sled type of hull for the Wanamaker flying boat America convinced Lieutenant John C. Porte and Glenn H. Curtiss, that the problem of constructing proper planing surfaces has been solved, they said.

The significance of this is that the attempt to cross the Atlantic is thus assured and the expedition to Newfoundland will leave New York on August 1.

Three weeks have been spent in experiments and now it remains only to rebuild the hull of the machine and ship it to St. Johns. It is expected that the ocean flight will take place about August 10, depending on weather conditions.

Emerson, all of Cincinnati, won their ways into the fifth round here today.

In the ladies' singles both Miss Mary Browne of Los Angeles, national woman champion, and her sister, Mrs. R. H. Williams of Chicago, won their way into the fourth round, as did also the Misses Madelle and Mary Lyons of Louisville.

EVERS HAS A SPIKE SORE; WILL BE OUT FEW DAYS

ST. LOUIS, July 15.—Second Baseman Johnny Evers of the Boston National league club probably will be out of the game for several days because of an injury he received during Monday's game with the local team. In the seventh inning he was spiked by Cruise when the latter slid into second base.

He played in Tuesday's contest, but today the wound was inflamed and the club trainer advised a layoff of several days.

Players must retire by 11 o'clock each night.

Excessive card playing or gambling of any kind prohibited.

Players must report for practice at specified time; if absent, good excuse must be given.

All players playing down or failing to perform the plays called for will be subject to fine to be decided by the manager or President Steinmetz.

Players making unexcusable errors will be subject to fine and suspension.

Bundy Is Beaten; Williams-Murray Team in Good Form

SEABRIGHT, N. J., July 15.—The feature on the courts of the Seabright Lawn Tennis and Cricket club in the Davis cup test matches today was the elimination of Thomas C. Bundy of California, who was beaten by R. S. Prentice, 6-0, 2-6, 8-6.

The fair-ons partner of Maurice E. McLaughlin for the most part played sluggishly.

R. Norris Williams, II, of last year's cup team, and R. Lindley Murray, the young Californian, were the only consistent performers. Williams overwhelmed F. C. Inman, his opponent, winning 6-3, 6-4. Murray defeated W. F. Johnson of Philadelphia, 6-2, 6-3.

NEW YORK, July 15.—R. D. Wrenn, chairman of the Davis cup committee of management, announced today that he had received two cable messages from Germany and England, respectively. The German players, Otto Froitzheim and Oscar Kreutzer, are now on their way across the ocean on the steamship America, which will arrive in Boston July 24, one message said. The Germans will at once go to the Allegheny Country club near Pittsburg to meet the winning nation of the Canadian-Australian match.

The English association from London cables the nominations of Arthur H. Lowe, J. G. Parke, T. M. Mavrogordato and Eliot A. R. F. Kingscote as the team which will represent the British isles in the final matches for the right to challenge America. These matches will be played at Boston.

Through miniature lakes and ankle-deep mud, the visiting St. Louis Americans and the champion Athletics paraded the field and, during a momentary letup in the almost continuous thunder showers which fell all day, the pennant was hoisted to the top of the pole.

Hagerman Makes Best Score of Season at Colorado Springs Club

Percy Hagerman struck his gait at the Colorado Springs Golf club Tuesday afternoon and turned in a card of 76 in an 18-hole match, the best score of the 1914 season. His best previous record for the course was 77. Par is 75 and the course record is 71.

In the 18 holes, Hagerman had five fives, 12 fours and one three. Phenomenal recoveries on the last two holes enabled him to clip one stroke from his previous best score. On the 17th he had to lay a 60-yard approach dead to get a five. On the 18th, he dubbed his drive, made a long second and then pitched his approach within a few feet of the cup for a four.

NEW YORK MARKET

NEW YORK, July 15.—Unsettlement which at times verged upon demoralization overtook today's stock market. New Haven was again the storm center, declining 5⅝ points on steady offerings, individually small, but in the aggregate large enough to make that stock the most active of the day.

The nature of the selling and the fact that much of it emanated from Boston and other New England points suggested further liquidation on the part of small shareholders who had become discouraged as a result of the findings of the interstate commerce commission. New Haven 6's dropped 6½ points and the 4½'s of the New York, Westchester and Boston, under New Haven's guarantee, were again weak with a loss of two points.

Canadian Pacific was again under the fire of foreign selling, declining to its lowest price in many years. This stock and others of the market leaders were sold by London and the continent to the extent of about 40,000 shares.

It was not until the latter part of the day that the general recession set in.

The bond market naturally reflected the weakness in stocks, with new low records of a few of the speculative issues. Total sales, par value, aggregated $2,625,000.

United States government bonds were unchanged on call.

CHICAGO MARKET

CHICAGO, July 15.—Black rust reports more ominous than at any previous time this season formed one of the leading causes today for an advance in the price of wheat. The market closed strong, ⅞ to 1¼@1⅜c net higher. Corn gained ⅛ to ⅝@1c; oats finished a sixteenth off to ¼@⅜c up, and provisions the same as last night, to a rise of 17½.

It was freely admitted that Minnesota fields as well as those in South Dakota showed serious inroads from black rust. Advices were that the plague had traveled to within 30 miles of the border of North Dakota. The ravages already in some places were said to be worse than in 1914 when the spring crop throughout the Dakotas and Minnesota suffered widespread ruin.

Bullish cables helped keep the wheat market on the upgrade from the start.

Failure of predicted rains led to a bulge in corn and so did a sharp advance at Buenos Aires, where the quality of arrivals was unsatisfactory and the weather bad for shippers. Enlargement of country offerings tended to check any decided upturn for oats.

Provisions followed the course of the hog market.

NEXT ENGLISH GOVERNMENT MUST DEAL WITH SUFFRAGE

LONDON, July 15.—The next government, whichever it might be, "would be obliged to deal with the woman suffrage question as a party measure in some shape or form," was the encouraging message given to a large deputation of international suffragettes at the house of commons by Francis Dyke Acland, parliamentary under-secretary for foreign affairs.

Lord Robert Cecil, for the Unionists and James Ramsey MacDonald, for the Laborites, addressing the deputation, expressed the opinion that the time was not distant when the women would be enfranchised.

Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, president of the International Women Suffrage Alliance, in returning thanks on behalf of the visitors, said they were pleased to find themselves within the walls of the house of commons, which was the storm center of the world-wide suffrage movement.
